Storm couldn't sour the Taste

Antioch chalks up another successful year for restaurateurs, merchants and residents

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

"Everybody was happy. Everybody was tired, but everybody was happy," said restaurateur Donna Di Marco after serving specialties from her restaurant menu for four days.

"This year's taste has gone better than ever. Attendance is up. We've had, absolutely, a tremendous family event," said Claude A. LeMere, Antioch community development director.

"Maxwell Street Days, from the merchants I talked to, did very well. Their sales have been up. They've seen a lot of enthusiasm in the people—lot of people on the street smiling and laughing," said Chamber of Commerce and Industry President Ed Cimaglio.

The early consensus from public and private sponsors is that, despite brief thunderstorms, the people turned out to do some shopping, eating, and listening. The result, however, is some very tired restaurant and store owners.

"It's like camping," says Di Marco. Everything is make-shift and the logistics to keep the food fresh and exciting is a challenge. Her special challenges were calamari and Italian lemonade. "Calamari has been my calling card," she said, so there was no way she could not include it among her taste offerings. However,

"it's a tough item to do at the fest." She also sold a lot of lemonade. "Italian lemonade has been our famous thing," she said.

"I compliment the Chamber, Ed [Cimaglio] and Claude [LeMere]. They did an excellent job putting on the event," said Di Marco.

LeMere said there were no security issues and when the severe weather hit, it was only a moment's interruption in the afternoon. "We had a lot of seniors out here playing bingo. We escorted them into the municipal building until the threat of storm had passed. Then they all came out and resumed activities."

"The police have joined in with us. Our Police Chief Charles Watkins and Lt. Ron Roth were out here in uniform on Saturday mingling with the people, visiting, and it's just been a tremendous atmosphere," said LeMere.

Cimaglio was pleased people seemed to be pulled into the event. "We've gotten a lot of new people into the village that live here. I've seen that at the 'taste' and I would assume a lot of it is out on the streets as well."

The local musical talent was an active, positive draw according to Cimaglio. "The Discords were fantastic," he said.

As LeMere said, "Everyone's enjoyed themselves. The entertainment has been phenomenal. The food is better than ever. What more can I say?"

Through good times and bad

Builder weathers controversies, says he aims to leave behind grateful homeowners

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

"It's very difficult to get a project through these days, and very expensive," says Kenneth J. Wisniewski Sr., president of Eagle Homes, Inc. He should know. He has built some 1,500 homes over the past 22 years.

"Business is great as long as the economy is good," Wisniewski says. "Right now, it's been very good."

Building homes on a large scale is "very different" than it used to be, however, and difficult to do successfully. He stays in the business because "most of the people are very happy about what they got." He especially likes to build homes for first-time buyers. "It's the first home they're buying and they are very appreciative. And, it just feels good."

That summarizes his situation these days as he begins the process of creating a new up-scale subdivision at the edge of the Village of Antioch. He proposes to build Talon Crossing in the northwestern quadrant of the Route 59 and Beach Grove Road intersection.

Wisniewski has worked with the Antioch Director of Planning, Zoning, and Building, Robert E. Silhan, since March to create a suitable concept plan for his proposed 54 lots on 71 acres. He now has started the public process of meeting with the village Planning and Zoning Board.

Wisniewski learned the business of home building and property development from the ground up. He graduated from Northern Illinois University in DeKalb in 1971. He then moved to Lake County the next year, and expects to live in Antioch once his home on Lake Marie is built. He will be close to the homes he builds, since he only builds homes in northern Lake County.

His firm is both a land developer and a general contractor for home construction. This provides his seven-person firm with two options. The first is to build homes on scattered lots anywhere there is an approved subdivision. The second option is that he can create a subdivision and build the homes there. Regardless of the options, he needs between 40 and 50 homes a year as "inventory" to keep his firm in business. He said that it is very difficult to find that many lots waiting for someone to build a home on them. Buying large tracts of land to develop makes it easier.

The thrill is definitely still there

New sports card store owner finds kids more savvy, but still get excited when they get a great card

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

John Lochhead sold Jordan Hauser a $3.95 package of baseball cards and watched Hauser pull cards worth $315 out of that package.

At least it is not as bad as the time he watched a kid pull out a $500 card.

Lochhead can sympathize with the thrill, however. "I've been collecting ever since I was a kid," says All American Cards and Collectibles store owner Lochhead.

Although a resident of Antioch for the past several years, he just opened his doors, at 425 Lake St., as a new Antioch business to sell collectible merchandise such as cards, comics, dolls, records, and other items. His is the only store of its kind in Antioch, although a few years ago there were as many as three stores selling sports cards.

No, his mother didn't throw out his collection.

Indeed, it is his collection that he assembled as a youth that has brought him into the business and forms the core of his current inventory. He also has all the newest cards and collecting them still excites him.

Even a package of three cards selling for $3.95 holds excitement. "Those are just neat cards," he said. "I love looking through them."

Sports collectible cards today do not look like what they did even two or three years ago. "The artwork, the quality of the cards today doesn't compare to what was available in the 1960s," he says. Some of the most advanced printing technology is used to create the cards. The colors, the embossing, the clarity of image, and the design have changed dramatically. "The last two years blows away all previous years," he said.

Today, a card may come with a protective film over the surface so that the image is not damaged by handling. In some cases, the protective plastic may not even be removed by the owner. This is not like it was when black border cards were sold in packages of gum.

Lochhead says that one of the hardest cards to buy in the United States is from black border sets. They are hard to find in good condition. If there is too much handling of the card, the white card begins to wear through the black ink. He has many of those cards in excellent condition, because he did not play with them when he was buying them as a youngster. "I knew down the road I wanted to do this," he said. So, he bought cards and hung on to them.

Today, young customer John Hauser, Antioch, is following in the same footsteps. He has been buying basketball cards for three or four years.

"I like Jordan and the top players in the NBA (National Basketball Association)." As a result, he has a carefully assembled collection of

Roads not ready for more houses on Beach Grove

Citizens fear increase in traffic at already dangerous intersection

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

For a brief moment, July 10, Barbara Johnson, chairman of the Planning Commission and Zoning Board, thought about moving the meeting to a larger location. There were so many people, that not all could be sworn for the testimony.

Village Hall was filled with more than 76 people, and they were ready to express concern about the proposed Talon Crossing housing development at Route 59 and Beach Grove Road. By the end of the public testimony period, 16 citizens and several public officials would speak up and letters would become part of the record.

The most strongly expressed concerns by nearby residents were about traffic conditions at the intersection of Beach Grove Road and Route 59. It was the issue that would not go away.

Another major issue was drainage of water and how it would be managed. Neighbors expressed concern about drainage of water and how it would affect property to the south of the proposed site. This was also a major concern of Timothy H. Osmond, Antioch township supervisor. Many supported environmental protection for features of the site such as wetlands, trees, and ground water quality. People were also concerned about the safety of children and the fact that they cross Route 59, although forbidden to do so.

A major puzzle is the 8.8-acre vacant parcel along Route 59 that will not be built upon and will not be annexed to the village at this time.

Village of Antioch Director of Planning, Zoning and Building Bob Silhan has explained that the village retains "a somewhat greater measure of local control" over its ultimate use if that parcel is not annexed at this time with the remainder of the land. He also expects that "economics would eventually dictate the use" of that excluded parcel and that "clearly it will be a land use other than single-family residential."

In response to one question at the hearing about what would be done with that 8.8 parcel, Wisniewski said, "It will be farmed."

The woman who asked the question repeated with a surprised inflection, "It will be farmed?"

"Right!" Wisniewski said.

The room broke into laughter.

Some residents offered ideas. A resident from Black Oak Avenue said, "I think there should be provided a way to get over the top of 59 provided by the builder for the young." The resident thought a pedestrian bridge was a good idea.

People wanted developer Wisniewski to redesign the intersection, fight with the Illinois Department of Transportation to obtain a traffic light there or another access point on Route 59, and move some earth and trim trees back at the corner to improve sight-lines.

In response, Wisniewski said, "If this is a problem that is being created by people that probably live 10 or 20 miles from here that are visiting the Chain of Lakes, to say that you're the only guy with a vacant piece of property so you're stuck with the problem is unfair."

"We will not put up the traffic light by ourselves and we won't construct anything over Route 59, 'cause we have the right to do neither," he said.

"If there should be a charge to put traffic lights in, yeah, we can participate. It should be Emmons school and it should be the rest of you people. You live here," said Wisniewski.

Local resident James Kramer offered up one larger-area solution. "I've got a solution to IDOT's problem. Just stop growth. Stop the builders from coming in until the state upgrades the roads. They're ten years behind right now and they keep on getting behind and behind. Stop the growth. Period."

THRILL: Still there for kids who collect sports cards

cards. He knows what he wants, needs, and how much it costs. According to Lochhead, Hauser also remains calm when he is going through the packets to see what he has just bought.

"Just two days ago I pulled $315 out of three cards," Hauser said. His friends were showing more excitement about it than he was. He stayed calm and thought about his purchases.

Lochhead observed of his young customer, "That kid is going around buying cards and he knows what he is looking for." Of the luck of the purchase, Lochhead said, "It's like pulling a jackpot."

Lochhead recognizes that his customers are young, but savvy. "It's nice when somebody in town gets it," he said of the high value card purchase. "It's exciting to know a kid can come in and get a great card."

He remembers when he was a kid and collecting cards. "We knew the hours of every card shop in town," Lochhead said.

Today, he sets the hours. Today he sells to girls and adults. He has sports cards, but also movie cards, such as Hercules, Men in Black, Star Wars, and Terminator cards. The business has changed since he was young, but the emotional excitement has not.

BUILDER: Grateful homeowners

"The only way to get inventory is to buy raw land and do it ourselves," Wisniewski said.

Wisniewski considers Talon Crossing to be similar to Eagle's Nest. He completed building that subdivision, on Route 83 just north of Grass Lake Road, as single-family homes on one-acre lots. He completed Waterford Woods about eight or 10 years ago. He is finishing up Hickory Cove in Fox Lake.

He is also the developer of Sweetwater Mill in Round Lake Beach. The Sweetwater Mill home development is now a matter of litigation between his company and Village officials. It is the kind of project, situation, and relationship that is quickly referred to attorneys for public comment. The Round Lake Beach planner Joel Webb, attorney Raymond Collins, and village manager Dave Kilbane all declined to discuss Sweetwater Mill.

Wisniewski would not discuss Sweetwater Mill either, except to explain that "we are suing the village for $1.2 million because they did not live up to their annexation agreement." The case may be resolved in federal court next year. Wisniewski notes that there are 230 homes in Sweetwater Mill, and he has 100 people who live there willing to serve as references for the quality of their homes.

Eagle's Nest, the completed example of what Talon Crossing will be, also had rough moments in its final stages. Lake County Department of Planning, Zoning, and Environmental Quality Senior Planner Pat Tierney said the County "ended up drawing on his bond" to complete work in the Eagle's Nest subdivision. The problems were eventually resolved related to drainage and road quality. The roads were in really bad shape, he said, and restoration of shoulders and drainage swales was not something Wisniewski wanted to do. "He just gave us the money and we finished the work," Tierney said. Steven Crivello, Deputy Director of the Building and Zoning Division of Lake County, Crivello further said of Wisniewski, "When we've asked Ken to do something, he's taken care of it, from our standpoint."

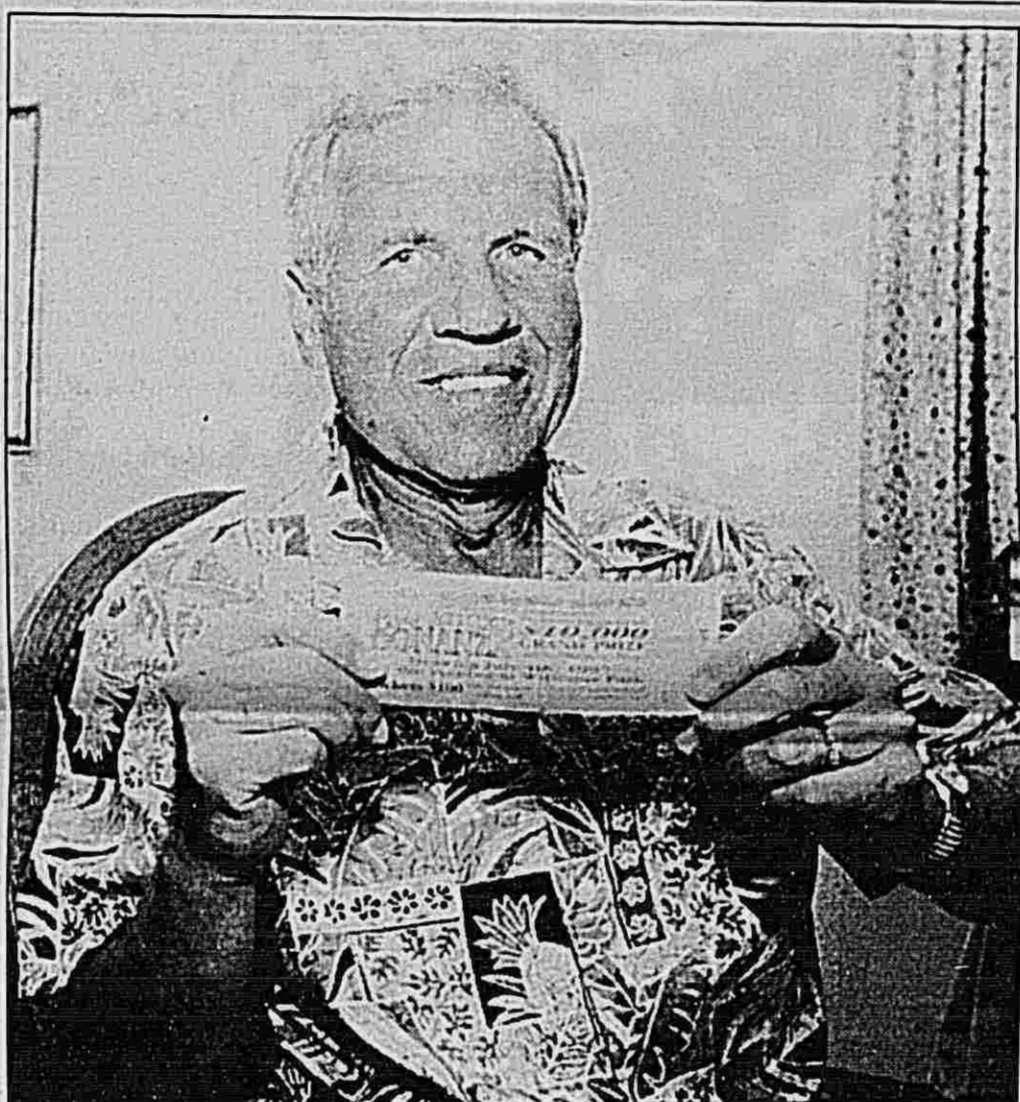

After 22 years of home building and land development, Wisniewski has seen the process change.

"When I started in the business in 1972, 1973, you didn't have the hassles you have today," he said. Today it is the emotional reaction of ecstatic home buyers that is his reward. He also thinks that he gets positive home buyer reactions since he builds a good home. "Because we're small, we're able to give more house for the buck."

CORRECTION

The correct date for the Antioch Planning and Zoning Board meeting at which the public hearing for Talon Crossing will be further discussed is

Aug. 21. The incorrect date was used in the July 17 story. The Planning and Zoning Board will meet July 24.

Mini-storage wants zoning

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

A mini-warehouse business is proposed for construction along Route 173 near the Redwing Marsh.

Consideration of the impact of change of zoning classification for property between Antioch Tire and Waste Management Company will be further discussed July 24 by the Planning and Zoning Board.

The public hearing on the proposed change, however, has been continued to Aug. 21. The board is awaiting an Illinois Department of Natural Resources report regarding compliance with the Endangered Species Act. Additionally, the Village Planner Bob Silhan was asked by the board to investigate the impact and feasibility of a B-3 zoning text change.

Lillian Wisniewski and Allan and Maria Jacobson have requested M-1 zoning, pending annexation, for an 8.5 acre parcel between Waste Management-North and Antioch Tire, Inc. on Route 173 east of Deep Lake Road.

The proposal under consideration is to develop the northern 3.3

acres of the parcel for storage and mini-warehouses. It will be a fenced facility for which 24-hour access is available. The requested zoning will allow outside storage.

Silhan has recommended that B-3 zoning with a special use permit be granted to the petitioner for a 3.3-acre instead of the requested M-1.

Judy Martini, Lake County Board member, expressed concern about the impact of the proposal on the adjacent marsh, considered by the state to be a very high quality wetland. She requested a wet detention basin for the site as well as a sedimentation control plan for the construction phase of the project.

Neighbor Steve Ogden expressed concern about the use of the property for a storage business. "I would rather see a business go in there than a mini-warehouse," he said. He expressed concern about the type of impression such a business would create for people who were entering the village for the first time. He also said that the appearance of the storage area would not be kept up. "They're just never kept up," he said about mini-warehouse storage areas in general.

Theatre is alive here

OUR TOWN

Ken Patchen

There are few communities with live theater presenting plays, and then there are the few that have, oh, maybe two productions going on at the same time. Antioch is such a town. There is a production of "My Fair Lady" at the PM&L Theatre on the 25th, 26th, and 27th. At Antioch Community High School, "Godspell" will be presented the 25th, 26th, and 27th. With careful planning, a person could see both plays.

One of the nice touches at the Maxwell Street sidewalk sale were jugs of water set out for people. There were a couple of them at various stores. One who was giving away water was Marc Mallen at Innovative Ideas (screen printing, embroidery, of promotional and personal items). He had distributed 6 jugs of water by Saturday afternoon. Many people, however, were attracted by his dogs, Mariah and Kody.

Mike Keefe is responsible for the landscaping around the Antioch Upper Grade School sign. This project was undertaken by Keefe as part of his services for his Eagle Scout badge. He worked with Dan Haley of McKay Nursery Company to assemble the plant materials and properly plant them. McKay Nursery Company also donated a red-bud tree for this project. Debbie Kerr, Principal, has told them that "the landscaping is a wonderful compliment to the beautification of the school sign and surrounding entrance area."

Registration for the Antioch Lower Grade School year 1997-1998 is coming up fast. It is on Tuesday, Aug. 12 and Wednesday the 13th, from noon to 3 p.m., and 5 to 8 p.m. The school says: "If you have a child who will be attending kindergarten in the fall, and have not yet registered them, please contact our office as soon as possible to make an appointment."

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Ken Patchen at 223-8161, ext. 131.

Getting a new face

Downtown business owners have spent some summer days painting their buildings with the help of Dennis Andre, shown painting a second-story window area, and Jeff "Overload" Andre (sidewalk level supervisor not shown in photograph). Store owners Walter Ruppert, William Carney, Richard Hart, and Chris and John Katris seek to create a harmonious downtown appearance with their efforts. Major facade renovations are being undertaken on the Las Vegas restaurant building to complement Jim and Shelly Auble's Williams Bros. Emporium building. ## Lions to barbeque chickens, Aug. 3

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Lions will gather in Centennial Park Aug. 3 to serve chicken barbeque to all village residents who show up.

It is their biggest fund raiser of the year and has traditionally provided major community benefits. It is typical of why the Lions have raised close to $1.5 million over 60 years to benefit Antioch.

"Our annual major fund raiser is the chicken barbeque," Antioch Lions President Bob Mueller said. "We give a majority of the benefits to the Antioch Rescue Squad."

The Lions serve up "25 half-chickens, pretty much every year, plus roasted corn, hamburgers, and hot dogs."

"We have representatives from the state and the district Lions as well as the dignitaries from the township and the Village of Antioch that attend and work the event," he said.

This is not the only fund raising the Lions do. It is the largest effort, but they also have smaller events. One is a raffle. "It's a fifty-fifty type raffle. In other words, it will be a percentage of the gross that we take in and that goes to" the winners.

Proceeds from past barbeques have provided major and minor improvements to the Antioch Rescue Squad. "The biggest thing we bought was a chassis for a rescue squad vehicle," Mueller said. "This particular year we are buying defibrillators. We're buying three or four of those for the rescue squad. And, there's a new type of air-splint we're buying for the rescue squad."

This is also Lions' 60th Year Anniversary as a community service organization. Because it is the 60th anniversary, an attempt was made to calculate the amount of financial assistance the Lions Club had provided to the village and the world. It is an international organization.

"Over the past 60 years..., the Lions Club of Antioch has passed on approximately $3 million. And, I would say that about half of that has gone out to the International to be distributed and the other half has stayed in town."

The financial assistance that is forwarded to the International Lions Club is used to work with sight impaired and hearing impaired people. The Lions also started to work with diabetes victims, Mueller said.

The Antioch Lions is a very successful group always searching for new members. "It's one of the largest, if not the largest, clubs in Illinois," Mueller said. "The membership in Antioch keeps sharing the goodwill with their neighbors and their new co-workers."

The best way to track down the Lion's meeting place is to ask one of the members. They meet twice a month "at various restaurants around town."

The barbeque is at Centennial Park, a place of special meaning for Antioch Lions. The Lions not only contributed a lot of dollars to support the building Centennial Park, but the Lions membership worked for three days to actually construct the park itself, said Mueller.

Tiffany Farms' models ready this weekend

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch house hunting takes a serious step forward this weekend as Tiffany Farms models become sufficiently finished to permit sneak previews.

"The models are about a week away from being shown," said Shirley Roach last weekend. She is the United Homes Sales Manager for Tiffany Farms.

"In the middle of August, we'll do the grand opening," she said. In the meantime, people are coming in to see what is available. "We're getting very good traffic," she said.

Tiffany Farms, near North Avenue and Tiffany Road, on the east side of Antioch, is a new subdivision under construction.

Today, attention can be focused on three decorated model homes of which they are building seven styles. There are 60 lots available in phase one, of which 28 have already been sold. "We're doing O.K.," Roach says of early sales progress. Plus they have a special promotion for $5,000 worth of free options. She says that interest is strong because people want to move to Antioch. "Antioch is a nice place," she explains.

Interested home buyers are coming in from Antioch. There are move-up buyers, people returning to the area to raise their children where they grew up, first time buyers, and some empty nesters. "It's a good mix," Roach said.

United Homes has lenders they recommend who are familiar with new construction financing. Roach said she is also prepared to work with Realtors who bring clients in to buy homes.

Roach says that it is a beautiful location with a lot of green space because of conservation areas, trail easements, and walking paths for children going to school.

The official August grand opening will be an occasion for local officials, the first home buyers, invited professionals, and United Homes representatives to gather together to officially open up the new housing development. "The first closings will be by September," Roach said.

POLICE BEAT

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

Possession Charge

Antioch Police charged Theodore M. Bermuth, 25, of Antioch, with unlawful possession of cannabis. Bermuth was stopped July 14 at 10:45 a.m. by police officers because of a defective, cracked windshield on his 1988 Ford Pickup truck at Main Street and Poplar Avenue. During the stop, officers allegedly detected the odor of cannabis. In response to inquiries, Bermuth allegedly produced a metal pipe believed to contain cannabis.

Bermuth was also charged with allegedly having a defective windshield. He was released on proper bond and assigned an Aug. 27 court date in Grayslake.

DUI Arrests

Antioch police arrested James A. Rice, 27, of Ivanhoe, and charged him with DUI after noticing his failure to signal a right turn from east bound Route 173 to south bound Route 59 in a 1995 GMC Pickup truck. On July 15, at 3:05 a.m., Rice allegedly crossed the center line and hit the curb during his travel. He refused the opportunity to take a breathalyzer test. He was assigned a court date of Aug. 19 in Waukegan.

Antioch police also arrested Steven P. Koran, 29, of Ingleside, and charged him with DUI. On July 20, at 9:46 p.m., Koran was stopped as he was going south bound on Tiffany near North Avenue in a 1995 Chevrolet Pickup truck. He refused the offer to take a breathalyzer test. He has an Aug. 19 court date in Waukegan.

Driver Has No License

Antioch Police officers arrested Melissa K. Doyle, 27, of Trevor, Wis., on July 17, at 1:46 a.m., as she traveled north bound on Tiffany Road at North Avenue. She was charged with not having a rear registration light and no valid license for more than six months. Doyle was released on proper bond and given an Aug. 13 court date in Grayslake at 9 a.m.

Consumption by Minor

Dead 'newborn' found discarded

By JASON KING
Staff Reporter

Libertyville police and the Lake County State's Attorney's office are investigating the discovery of a dead infant, found in a restroom trashcan.

The infant was found on Monday, July 21, at approximately 12:44 p.m., in a bathroom at the Manor Care Health Services facility, 1500 S. Milwaukee Ave., in Libertyville. An employee of the facility found the corpse in the bathroom's trashcan and reported the gruesome discovery to the police.

Police and paramedics called to the scene confirmed that the infant was dead. Evidence was found that suggested either a miscarriage or abortion of the child, Libertyville police said in a prepared statement.

Bobbie Beak, administrator at the facility, had no comment.

Libertyville police, as well as the State's Attorney's office are being extremely tight-lipped about the investigation.

"As we determine what the facts are, we may be in a better position to release more information," said Chief Deputy State's Attorney Jeff Pavletic. The state's attorney's office is reviewing reports and photographs taken by the Libertyville police.

Lakeland Newspapers did learn that police and the state's attorney investigators are talking to a 20-year-old Waukegan woman as a possible suspect.

"She's not in custody," said Steve Scheller, assistant state's attorney working on the case.

Pavletic said that no charges have been brought at this time.

The identity of the baby is being protected as well, Pavletic said, until after the Lake County Coroner performs a complete autopsy to determine the cause of death. Murder charges could be brought depending on the cause of the infant's death.

Although the baby was described as a "newborn," state's attorney officials would not indicate the exact age, the gender or the race of the child.

'71 Vette burns up in Volo

On July 17, at 8:59 a.m., the Wauconda Fire Department, assisted by fire companies from Fox Lake, Grayslake and Round Lake, answered a fire call at the Old Volo Village Antique Auto Mall.

On arrival, firefighters found a large metal-pole barn with heavy smoke conditions inside and no visible fire. Further investigation revealed a fire had occurred in a 1971 Chevrolet Corvette, but had gone out.

There is no damage estimate, but it appears that only the Corvette and two vehicles adjacent to it sustained fire damage, with 25 of 26 vehicles having sustained smoke and soot damage. The owner believes all but the burned-out Corvette are salvageable.

Wauconda Fire Department investigators are looking into the fire's cause. There has been no determination of cause as of press time.

Jaycees plan 'Fun in the Sun' July 26

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

"Anyone can show up," Greg Benyak says, and he really hopes people do turn out.

The Antioch Jaycees will host a social event at Captain's Quarters, 38283 N. Bolton Place, "to raise awareness of Jaycees and their programs." The organization is looking for men and women between 21 and 39 years of age.

"Fun in the Sun" is Saturday, July 26, from 3 p.m. into the evening. There is no cover charge or reservations needed. People pay for their own food and drink. The Jaycees provide a band, the volleyball court, and basketball court. Benyak said that this is not a fund raiser.

Fund-raising is what Jaycees do throughout the year and why they need committed members. "We do fund-raising for different groups," said Benyak, current president of the organization. The Jaycees do tunnels of terror, bike-a-thons, and many holiday season gift-giving events.

Kaylee gets high dance scores

Kaylee Vernetti of American Stars of Dance and Tumbling in Antioch, has had a great year. Her first year of competition won Kaylee the highest overall score at both "I Love Dance" and "Applause." She had the highest score for the 6 years and under category at "Starquest" and was given the "best timing" award along with "most photogenic." Kaylee will be competing in the junior level of the Lake County Fair talent show.

Miss Randee is Kaylee's choreographer and dance instructor.

Vernetti:

The Tunnel of Terror is a Halloween event in the downtown business district. It is held in conjunction with the Antioch Halloween Howl event. Jaycees build a scary walkway for people filled with gross and disgusting experiences that do not hurt them. There is the tunnel of rats, a tunnel of snakes (people crawl through this area on their hands and knees), and people who jump out and scare tunnel trekkers. The tunnel has a dark and scary atmosphere with decapitated heads, weird music, and strobe lights.

The Bike-a-thon is in September and raises money for the American Cancer Society. During the holiday season, Jaycees operate a Santa telephone and help to fulfill Christmas wishes. "We get thousands and thousands of dollars worth of gifts. It usually takes us two days to deliver them," said Benyak.

Captain's Quarters is accessible by boat. There is no beach. Outdoor party dress would be appropriate for women, Benyak said. Casual wear for men will be suitable.

To get to Captain's Quarters by land, take Grass Lake Road west, from Rte. 59, to Ackerman Dr., follow the subdivision's winding road to the bar.

"We are building awareness of our presence as well as recruiting," Benyak said of the Saturday event.

Library to take architecture tour

The Antioch Library Friends is sponsoring a bus tour on Saturday, Sept. 20. The highlight of the trip will be a boat tour of the Chicago River, with 53 architecturally and historically significant sights pointed out by a Chicago Architectural Foundation guide. In the afternoon, Navy Pier will be explored.

A luxury coach will take you directly from Antioch to downtown Chicago, leaving at 9:15 a.m. and returning at 5:15 p.m., on Saturday, Sept. 20. The cost is $45 per person. Antioch Library Friend members will receive a discount.

For more information, call Nancy Brown of the Antioch Library Friends at 838-2332.

Emmons holds registration

Registration for the 1997/98 school year will be held on July 28 and 29 from 2 until 8 p.m. All students—returning and new—need to register and pay fees.

The PTO Supply Store will be open during the registration hours. Order forms will be available for hot lunch, sportswear, and various other activities.

If you have any question, call Emmons School at 395-1105.

Stories to come alive

Spring Grove to host state storytelling festival this weekend

By JEFF PATERSON
Staff Reporter

Fables, tall tales and legends will be the focus of family fun at the 14th Annual Illinois Storytelling Festival, to be held in Spring Grove on June 26 and 27.

A total of 40 storytellers, musicians and sign-language interpreters will relate stories reflecting Native American, Spanish, Hawaiian, Japanese and other cultures, and at the event, to be held at the Village Park, just off Spring Grove's Main Street.

The state festival is the brainchild of cousins Robert and Jim May, who coordinated the event to help promote the Greater Richmond/Spring Grove Chamber of Commerce. Proceeds from the festival are used for various village art projects and to keep the festival financially self-supported.

The idea for the festival came from Jim's visits to the National Storytelling Festival in Jonesboro, Tenn., and his desire to bring a celebration of stories to this state.

With Jim, now a full-time internationally-traveled storyteller, providing artistic management, and

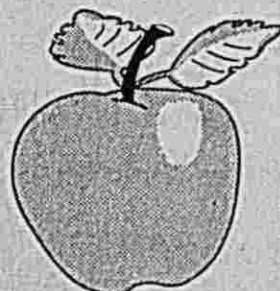

Brian providing business management, the festival anticipates drawing spectators and participants from at least half of the country's 50 states.

Through his experience with the festival, Brian has found that the stories told have a deeper significance than just entertainment.

"With this festival of folklore and the oral tradition, we're trying to bring the stories of the past to life, so that we may learn from them and have a feeling of where we have come from culturally, and find what this means as we approach our lives and our community."

Storytellers featured at the festival will include Native North American spiritual leader Johnny Moses, Northwestern University theater and storytelling professor Rives Collins, and Chicago's Peter Cook, an internationally-traveled deaf actor and storyteller, among others.

Tickets for the festival, available at the gate, will be $10 for adults and $5 for children 9 and up accompanied by an adult. Children 8 and under will be admitted free. While food will be available for purchase on the grounds, picnicking is welcome.

Muffin runs, finishes strong in hearts

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

"She's the best dog we've ever had in our life," says Alice Waisnor of Antioch.

Muffin, her tan Cocker mix 7-year-old dog, was entered in the 1997 Dairyland Mutt Races at Dairyland Greyhound Park last weekend.

"She won the first one, but not the second one," Waisnor said of the family dog. Muffin had been entered in the race by her Waisnor's son, Alan. The race replaces the Wiener Dog Nationals previously held by the Kenosha race track, a pari-mutual wagering facility.

"It's basically just for fun," says Dairyland promotions coordinator Beth Antonetti. "There is no wagering; it's just for fun."

The race is a 50-yard dash for dogs who run from a start line to their owner at the finish line. Dogs are classified in three height categories of small, medium, and large. The Saturday night Championship races contained the winners of previous elimination rounds.

Muffin ran well on Tuesday and finished third in her race. On Saturday, she finished sixth out of eight other entries. "It was fun. That's what we went for," said Waisnor.

"She's a very friendly, very nice dog," Waisnor said of Muffin. It did not bother her at all that Muffin was not able to bring home a year's supply of Miller Lite Beer and Thompson's Pasta Plus Pet Food. Plus, there was a Mutt Race Championship trophy that did not come home with Muffin.

"Everybody was really good about bringing out their friendly dogs," Antonetti said. The track tries to eliminate aggressive dogs and breeds well known for their speed, such as greyhounds and whippets. "Everybody was great, the dogs cooperated, and everything was fabulous."

Other area dogs who participated in the race include Jake, from the Lisa Spitzcock household in Lake Villa, Becky, from the Deborah Love household in Trevor, Wis., Comet, from the James Goodman household in Hainesville; Peanut, from the Cynthia Powers household in Libertyville, and Wylie, of the Gary Volling household in Lindenhurst.

More on our summer vacation—but did we catch any fish?

While vacationing up in Canada we did what all tourists do, we went fishing—only we went with the locals. My brother-in-law loaded us up his battered four wheel drive truck with no muffler, shocks or hubcaps, but plenty of rust and a dandy CB radio, and shot

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

off toward the "best darn fishing hole in all of Canada." We were taken down an atrociously bumpy trail that I won't even justify its existence by calling it a road. We maneuvered around boulders, wildlife, babbling brooks, and haphazardly built wooden structures, straddling rushing stream somewhat resembling bridges. After driving for an hour through the densest woods one could imagine with branches slapping our every side, we met up with the lead truck who had stopped in the road. He didn't pull off, he just stopped and began unloading fishing gear from the back of his truck. How could he pull off? There was no place to pull off and, if by the absolute slight, ultra-thin chance another vehicle ventured down this same road—oh well, they would have to figure out how to get around us. All I kept thinking is—do we have to drive back the same way we came backwards?

But that part of our journey was over for now, the next part consisted of hiking through the thickest, deer-fly and mosquito-infested woods ever to be created by the "Big Guy Upstairs." Are we having fun yet? Where, oh where, is the indoor pool and room service menu? After literally hacking our way through the forest for what seemed eternity, past water still frozen from winter (this was after all June), we broke through on the shores of the most pristine lake imaginable. It was so big we could barely see the other shore, and so smooth we thought it too was still frozen.

Peace and serenity engulfed our every DNA molecule. It's the closest to heaven some members of the Pringle clan may ever reach. We witnessed first hand nature in its own environment. We watched herons swoop after fish, hawks circling over head, and we heard little critters foraging through the woods, and some not so little critters as well. We spent the afternoon sitting on humongous boulders, dangling our toes in icy water, with fishing poles all but forgotten, enjoying nature at its best. As the sun began to set in the west it was time to pack up our gear and head back through the creature infested woods to the safety of our vehicle for it was nearing dinner time in the animal kingdom.

The safety of our children was a great issue during our visit. After all, human beings are definitely infringing on the natural habitats of the area. It was nothing to see deer, moose, wolves and those lovable big black bears frolicking through my sister-in-laws front yard. I didn't know how the local wildlife would take to our young off-spring running wild through their living room and I certainly didn't want any of our namesakes ending up on the natives dining room table either.

When our visit was over and we headed back to the confines of our own house in Antioch, through lush forests, past rushing rivers and dancing waterfalls, on roads where there is nothing but trees, lakes, rocks and the occasional passing car, where cell phones blink "No Service" and gas stations and bathrooms don't exist, we exited "No Man's Land" and returned to civilization as we have become accustomed. We had just experienced an adventure our kids will not soon forget. We touched a part of life and land that some people have no idea even exists. We witnessed the beauty nature can create and the havoc it can wreak. But, all in all, for lack of any other way to put it "there's no place like home."

And so goes another "Jingle From Pringle"—don't forget to call 395-6364.

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

NAYB tourney begins; charity golf outing a success

This week the National Association of Youth Basketball is holding its Under 19 Women's World Championships at Round Lake High School. During their stay in Lake County, Team USA has held a few basketball clinics for the youth players of the area. Last week the team was in Libertyville to conduct a clinic for some of the younger players, and the response was great.

The Team USA players were very helpful and patient with the young hoopsters, and coach John DeBeck said that the whole concept was great for women's basketball in Lake County.

"This is a great chance for the young kids to play and interact with some of the best 19-year-olds in the country," said DeBeck. "It also gives the girls (Team USA) a chance to have an impact on some young players who really look up to them."

The clinic featured many different stations and had the kids break up into small groups to work on different aspects of fundamental basketball.

Many of the participants were dwarfed by the soon-to-be-college-freshmen players, as three players are 6-2, one 6-3, and one stands 6-4. This did not intimidate the kids, however, as they jumped right in and gave all-out efforts in each drill.

Team USA will compete in the NAYB World Championships all this week, and for more information, or a schedule of events, please contact the NAYB at 884-8874 or call Round Lake High School.

The Lakeland Charity Golf Outing was held this past Monday, and amid the rainy, overcast skies, many golfers had a great time for the benefit of a worthy cause.

The golf outing, which benefited the ICYA (Illinois Center for Youth Advocacy), raised $8,000 for the charity, which will go toward a computer center for the children of Lake County.

Dave Sherman, chief golf outing organizer, said that the event went off without a hitch, nearly.

"This turned out really nice for everyone involved," said Sherman. "The only thing that we didn't expect was the rain, and that cleared up by eleven o'clock."

The two lucky contest winners, Janet Schockmel and Howard Carlson, spent the day playing in a four-some with Chicago Wolves' players Steve Maltais and Tim Breslin. Although the group did not win the tournament, they played remarkably well considering Schockmel had played just one time before.

Many of the golfers walked away with some impressive prizes, including a pair of $450 drivers, tickets to see the White Sox, the Kane County Cougars, the Chicago Wolves, free subscriptions to Lakeland Newspapers, shirts, hats and hard-to-get programs from the Chicago Bulls.

Where at Lakeland would like to thank all those involved in our first ever golf outing. Everyone who played, sponsored holes, donated prizes, or was involved in any way, made this event possible, and fun for all.

Lakeland Charity Golf Outing a success

By BRENDAN O'NEILL
Sports Editor

The day was Monday, July 21. The event: the Lakeland Newspapers Charity Golf Outing. The conditions? Soggy. But that did not detract any of the participants in this first-ever golf outing sponsored by Lakeland Newspapers.

Yes, the rains came, but conditions on the Renwood Golf Course were fair after the skies closed up at eleven o'clock. Many local golfers came out for a good time on the golf course, and to support a fledgling charity—the Illinois Center for Youth Advocacy (ICYA). The event raised $8,000 for the charity, founded by Jeff Shook, and will go toward a computer center for local children.

Dave Sherman, chief organizer of the golf outing, said that the event went better than he could have dreamed.

"This turned out to be a fantastic day," said Sherman. "Once the rain stopped falling, everyone seemed to have a great time."

Once the golfers returned from the links, they were treated to a raffle and many at-hole prizes were given out as well.

Winning the longest putt contest on the first hole were Harlan Dam and Andrea Moore. Kevin Jara of Acu-vision won the "betting" hole, and won double the amount he bet on number four. Bruce Bowen won the longest putt on the fifth hole, while Arnie Wasserman won the straightest drive on hole six. Hole seven saw Travis Carlisle win the longest putt with a hockey stick. Jim Shook and Laura H. won the longest drive at hole 16, while Gunta Hadac and Bruce Schwartz won the longest drive on the 18th hole.

Sherman said that the prizes were donated from various local businesses, and were greatly appreciated.

"We received prizes donated from the Chicago Bulls, the Chicago White Sox, the Chicago Wolves, the Kane County Cougars, and a number of businesses right here in the area," said Sherman. "A lot of the participants walked away with some pretty nice gifts."

Those gifts and prizes included a pair of $450 drivers, donated by Golf Links in Vernon Hills, and The Clubhouse in Gurnee.

With the success of this golf outing, you can expect many more events from Lakeland in the future, and we would like to invite all of our readers to get involved in any of the local charities.

ACHS to make waves in summer tourney

Antioch High posted a 12-win summer season and was hoping to make some waves in the Stevenson hosted regional tournament this week.

Antioch was 12-4 for the summer. Mike Nielsen comes into the tournament as the team's ace.

"He has a sense of the difference between the regular season and the summer season. The summer season is not as intense," said ACHS coach Paul Petty.

Antioch gained a spot in the regional quarterfinals at Stevenson with a 10-0 thrashing of Crystal Lake Central Monday.

Nielsen fanned eight batters, walked only two in a three-hitter.

"I felt I was concentrating more. I was hitting the corners," said Nielsen.

The senior faced only one situation of a runner reaching third base.

He was backed up by plenty of offense. Catcher Reggie Hughes belted a three-run homer to get things started.

"Our one through five spots hit well and our six through nine spots hit enough," said ACHS coach Paul Petty.

Petty said the Sequoits did a good job of hitting to right field.

"We try to teach that. Hitting to right field creates runs," said Petty.

Dan Pendergast had two hits as did lead-off man George Fuchs. Fuchs had an RBI single.

ACHS scored six times in the first inning as it sent 10 batters to the plate. Three more runs came in the second inning. The 10-runs to end the game early this cloudy, chilly day came when Pendergast singled and later scored when Gary Spiller reached on an error in the fourth.

Contributing consistently on offense included: Hughes, Chris Groth, Pendergast, who has been used as a lead-off man and senior Fuchs.

The summer's post-season tourney means a return to regular IHSA baseball rules such as batting order and re-entry. The regional final is set for July 24 at SHS.

Golf outing nets $5,000

Antioch Community High School hosted its second annual Sequoit Pride golf outing, raising thousands of dollars for the athletic program.

Participants totaled 88 golfers and combined with local business sponsorships, $5,000 was raised.

Winners included:
Longest putt: Glenn Graham and Bruce Tossey;
Closest to the pin: Sandy Jacobs and Ron Olesiak;
Longest drive: John LaRoi and Carole Machnics;
Company winners:
Professional division: Cricton

Rentals;
Banking division: First of America Bank;
Community division: Ron Chilcote, Jim Hintz, Ron Miller and Steve Ryan; Educational division: ACHS;
Industrial division: Mihovilovich Builders;
Overall winners:
Third place: Jim Mihovilovich, Mary Mihovilovich, Steve Jump and Olesiak;
Second place: Chilcote, Jim Hintz, Ron Miller and Steve Ryan.
Champions: John Walker, Paul Petty, Terry Perriman and Ken Falkingham.

EAGLE WATCH

Chuck Rachunek, of Goodland, Minnesota, made a hole-in-one on the 9th hole at the Antioch Golf Club.

This was Rachunek's first hole-in-one as he aced the 168-yard par three with a six iron.

Used Cars To Be Sold For $1.00

Without a doubt, history will be made at Raymond Chevrolet-Oldsmobile at 120 Route 173 in Antioch this Saturday, July 26th when prices on over 200 used cars, trucks and vans will be slashed to rock bottom with some as low as $1.00.

According to General Sales Manager, Lou Mostaccio, Raymond Chevrolet-Oldsmobile offers all high quality vehicles and this sale will be no exception. All vehicles have been priced and ready for their new owners.

The reason for a sale of this magnitude is a simple rule of economy: Volume. By selling a large number of cars at a smaller margin, everybody is a winner. "We get to meet a lot of folks, sell great cars at hundreds to thousands below their original price and have a lot of fun!" said Mostaccio, "We have been in business for over 30 years so we are not in this for a quick dollar. We want to give you, the public, some extraordinary deals and gain you as long-term customers."

If you are asking yourself, "This sounds great... but how does it work?" Here's the plan. All vehicles will be on display at a secured area, on the Raymond Chevrolet-Oldsmobile lot at 120 Route 173 in Antioch.

Beginning promptly at 8:00 am on Saturday, buyers can register. It will be mandatory that all buyers register prior to entering the secured area. At precisely 10:00 am, the inspection period will begin. Until 11:00 am, potential buyers will be able to inspect the vehicles that they are interested in.

Posted on each windshield will be the normal retail price. At exactly 11:00 am, whomever is sitting behind the steering wheel of a specific vehicle when the posted price is slashed will have the first right to purchase the vehicle at the slashed price. PRICES WILL BE SLASHED ONE TIME AND ONE TIME ONLY TO A ROCK BOTTOM

VALUE INCLUDING 5 VEHICLES FOR ONLY $1.00!

Prices will continue to be slashed until every vehicle's price is slashed. At that time, the sale will be concluded and the store will be back to business as usual.

Finance experts will be on site during this event. Regardless of your credit history, all you need to bring is your current drivers license, payroll stub and proof of address. No finance application will be refused. Trade-ins are also welcome.

There will be five vehicles that will be slashed to $1.00 on Saturday, July 26th. The slasher is the only person who knows which vehicles are going to be sold for $1.00. Slashed prices plus documentation fee of $46.00 and tax, title and license fee. Register to buy at 8:00 am on Saturday. Sale gates open Saturday at 10:00 am and the slasher starts at 11:00 am. Please direct all phone inquiries to 847-395-3600.

Area folk performers find many Lake County residents who like to listen for their songs

Folk music culture thrives in western Lake County. A person can find it in the people, the businesses, and entertainment. It is as close to county residents as a corner tavern or park, or, maybe, someone adjacent in a song circle.

"To me the true definition of a folk song is: songs that stand the test of time," says Dan Zahn, one of the most active singer-songwriters in Lake County. "If a song, today, can last 20 years, it's a darn good song. Those are the songs I go after."

Zahn records them in the Fox Lake studio of Joe Pesz, Spot One Studio, for a music distribution company, Just Folks Music Company, in Mundelein. He has written songs, including one about his childhood home in Fox Lake, and sung them at folk festivals in Wauconda, Lake Zurich, and at the Tavern on Lake in Grayslake.

"I don't think it's ever going to go away," Zahn says of the music he sings.

It certainly will not go away as

*I'm going back where my dreams often drift.
I'll find life's answer, I know,
Where the water flows under the old wooden bridge
In the shade of my Fox Valley home.*

long as Zahn, Amy Beth, Charles VanderVennet and Kate Moretti are organizing area folk festivals (see related article). People in Lake County can find live folk music almost every week through the summer. In between, people can listen to music by local artists they bought "from the stage" on cassette tapes and compact discs. As singer Amy Beth says, "If you like the music, get the recording while you are there" at the festival.

The Lake County Folk Club has established itself as a strong local force for keeping the music available to the public. According to long-time participant member VanderVennet, the Folk Club is growing every week and is "packing them in" at the Tavern on Lake Street. Indeed, sometimes people must be turned away.

He said, "It's a well known stage for high quality performance." The first Sunday of the month features old time music and clogging. From September through May, there are concert presentations by performers. The third Sunday is an "open mike" program of music. The fourth Sunday is a song circle in which each person takes a turn suggesting a song for the group to sing.

Folk music has been very commercial music at times in its history.

County and regional folk music available through mail

Music by area folk musicians is available at the edge of stages after a performance as both tape cassettes and compact discs.

Just Folks Music Company can be reached with mail-order requests for music by Dan Zahn, Amy Beth, Julie Singing Wind, "Live at the Lake County Museum, Vol. 1," and Acoustic Prism. Discs by Dan Zahn include "Sunrise," "Iowa Rose," and "Home of the Brave."

The music costs $15 for a disc, $10 for a cassette, plus $2 for shipping and handling.

The "Amy Beth A Self Portrait" cassette recording is $12 and includes postage and handling. She also performs at the Corner Room at the northeast corner of Hoy and Bunker Streets in Woodstock on the third Fridays of January through November at 7:30 p.m. Call 815-338-4245 for information.

Listen to their songs at area venues and festivals

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff reporter

Lake County and area villages have their share of upcoming folk music festivals with its featured Lake County performers. These musical gatherings bring local and regional performers before the public and serve as access points for people to learn of smaller presentations in homes or local community settings.

The Third Annual Lake County Folk Festival is Sunday, Aug. 3, at Paulus Park in Lake Zurich, near the intersection of Routes 12 and 22. From 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., local and regional musicians will entertain amidst a variety of other elements of the folk tradition, such as a song circle tent, teaching stage, dulcimer stage, Lake County Folk Club stage, and a first-ever singer-songwriter competition. The featured festival performers include: Claudia Schmidt, Joel Mabus, Small Potatoes, Bill Robinson and Friends, Mark Dvorak, Tricia Alexander, Inland Tern, Baal Tinne School, and McNulty Irish Dancers.

This Lake County Folk Festival emerged from a combination of previously separate festivals. One was organized by singer-songwriter Zahn with the Lambs Farm organization and subsequently moved to Wauconda at the Lakewood Forest Preserve. In the meantime, Kate Moretti, a singer and member of the Dulcimer Club, had been organizing folk festivals in Lake Zurich at Paulus Park. Both festival efforts have now merged into a single program with three corps of sponsors: the Lake County Folk Club, the Village of Lake Zurich, and the Dulcimer Club. It is a strong public event, with many of the folk community stalwarts fully represented.

A few days after the festival, on Tuesday, Aug. 12, at 7 p.m., Dan Zahn and Friends will do two 50-minute shows, also at Paulus Park. Zahn's friends will include local performers Joe Pesz (guitar) and Don Stiernberg (mandolin). Other

So, tell me, Lake County - How hot is it?

Do any of you still miss the Johnny Carson "Tonight" show?

Well, I do, for one. Even though we now have Jay "the chin" Leno, and David Letterman and his top 10 lists (and I admit I do enjoy David's evil little smile), it's still hard to forget the king of late night talk shows.

My favorite part of each show was always his opening monologue (maybe that's because I couldn't stay awake much longer than that!), and my most favorite part of the monologue was when he would make a statement like "Things are really bad in the White House..." always pausing at just the right spot so that the audience, as if on cue, would yell out the joke's set-up line: "How bad are they?"

So, in honor of the old and the new, Carson and Letterman, here is a list of 10 punch lines for a statement I will make in a moment. However, in order for it to work, I want all of you readers to read the statement and then yell out, as loud as you can, "HOW HOT IS IT?"

Do you think you can do it? Here we go (I'll start):

"The weather is really HOT here in Lake County this July."

Alright readers, now it's your turn. Go ahead. Say it loud. Very good (I think!) And now,

LIFE'S A BEAR

Donna Abear

here are ten possible answers to your question:

THE "HOW HOT IS IT?" HOT TEN LIST

10. It's so hot, water levels in the area are starting to drop. If this keeps up, we'll have to give the Chain O' Lakes a new name: Series of Swamps.

9. It's so hot, my dog is no longer interested in chasing "wab-bjts." Now we just call her "Elmer Dud."

8. It's so hot, I no longer punish my kids by sending them to their air-conditioned rooms—I just send them outside to play.

7. It's so hot, my husband and I wake up sweaty. We now refer to our bed as "the slip and slide."

6. It's so hot, the bullfrogs in the area are no longer croaking "Bud-weis-er." They're just croaking.

5. It's so hot, a new trend has begun at bars and resorts around Lake County—"Sweat T-shirt Contests."

4. It's so hot, people tend to be cranky and rude. For instance, my new answering machine message is, "I'm not home. Call someone who cares."

3. It's so hot, when my kids hear the music of the local ice cream truck, they no longer run after it. They ask me to drive them.

2. It's so hot, poodles in the area are finally safe from coyotes. That's because even wild animals eat light in this heat. Of course, this is not good news for Chihuahua owners.

1. It's so hot, I no longer care whether my pool-owning friends really meant any of those vague invitations they always make, like "You're welcome to come over and swim in our pool anytime." I'm coming over anyway.

Now, if you think you can do better (and I must admit that I am handicapped on this subject because I have air conditioning), please feel free to send me your own list of answers to the question, "How hot is it?" Mail them ASAP to my attention in care of Lakeland Newspapers, 30 S. Whitney St., Grayslake, IL 60030.

If I get enough responses, I'll print them here in a future column. In the meantime, keep cool—and lend a friend your pool!

Donna Abear can also be heard as a guest humorist on WXL 102.3 FM's morning show at 7:10 a.m. on alternate Mondays.

Jamaica - The Way It Was It Still Is

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

From colonial days all the way through the 1930's, Jamaica was known for its sophistication, as well as its beauty. Jamaica was the darling of the millionaire elite.

Though sometimes overshadowed by today's "fun-in-the-sun" anything goes view of Jamaica, the sophistication and class for which Jamaica was once known, can still be found. Best of all, in Jamaica you can experience the type of pampering sought out by the Rich and Famous at a price within the reach of we working class folks.

A collection of four resorts offering the elegance of Jamaica's past at reasonable prices, are known appropriately as "The Elegant Resorts of Jamaica."

We'll start with Round Hill Hotel and Villas located near Montego Bay on a lush green 98-acre peninsula with a private beach.

Rogers and Hammerstein wrote some of the lyrics for the Sound of Music during their stay at Round Hill. Noel Coward enjoyed playing the piano in the main bar. Grace Kelly, Katherine Hepburn, Jack Kennedy, Leonard Bernstein and Ralph Lauren are just a few who have enjoyed Round Hill's well staffed villas and legendary gardens. While Saturday's black tie dinner is the height of elegant socializing, barefoot bonfires and bar-be-que's on the beach are also very much in style.

Next we have the Tryall Gold, Tennis and Beach Resort.

Once a legendary Jamaican "Great House" (the Mansion of a sugar plantation owner) Tryall now includes an 18 hole PGA-LPGA golf course which has hosted many world competitions, including the Johnnie Walker World Championship.

If golf is not your thing, this 2,200 acre private estate also includes one and a half miles of curving beach front perfect for all kinds of water sports.

The Half Moon Beach Club, with its Robert Trent Jones Golf course and no less than 19 swimming pools, along with Trident Villas, long known as a hideaway for royalty celebrities, round-out the Elegant Resorts of Jamaica.

MOVIE PICK

'Contact' full of intelligent life

Jodie Foster, whose acting experience spans three decades, is still one of the movie screen's most beautiful young women. She uses that experience in good stead in "Contact," the first intelligent sci-fi movie script to grace the big screen in many a moon, or whatever planet you prefer.

What else would one expect from a script based on Carl Sagan's great novel about a star gazer's quest to fulfill a dream about interplanetary communication.

Award-winning director Robert Zemeckis has Foster put a voice and face to the age-old science vs. religion controversy in this arresting tale that pokes fun at itself by sliding by "Forrest Gump-like" famous voice and face-overs. This time it's President Clinton getting words put into his mouth.

Foster, an astronomer who has devoted her life to intercepting messages from outer space, battles her own U.S. government for the right to answer the messages she receives inviting her to visit, even sending a blueprint on how to build a machine to facilitate that visit.

Adding to the quality of this film's script, director and star, is the rest of the stellar cast. Tom Skerrit as an opposing presidential advisor; James Woods, a National Security advisor; and her old love interest played by new screen hunk

Preparing to enter the newly built space craft that is to transport her to another world, Jodie Foster is about to fulfill her life-long dream. Portraying an astronomer in the sci-fi hit "Contact," Foster is about to make contact with another planet.

Matthew McConaughey.

The usual Hollywood special effect's experts' efforts surround this believable bit of science fiction making it all that more believable and probable.

We give this PG rated flick 4.5 out of five possible stars, only tainted by the mismatch of Foster and McConaughey as a "couple."

Here's the proof in living Technicolor that the use of four-letter words and too vivid love scenes, besides the sex bombardment, is not the only way to succeed in film-dom.—By Gloria Davis

Divorce etiquette for children

Dear Dr. Singer, I'm divorced and going crazy! My husband doesn't have the same rules in his house as in mine and my son gets everything he wants there. When he comes home he is out of control. How can I get my husband to understand that we have to get this on track? S.T.

Dear S.T.,

This is a common question I hear a lot of. I usually suggest that the parent who is being the "Disneyland" parent or the one who gives all the good stuff and lets the child get away with things, think about what future implications this will have. Kids that get everything they want due to a divorce tend to grow up expecting the same treatment. This can become quite out of control and difficult. You're obviously concerned that your child have the best possible future, however, if you want to get through to your ex-spouse a little better, try this: a child that is never taught to earn for himself or be responsible, usually tends to be living with you much longer than you would like. While we all love our kids, at some point, we want them independent so that we aren't having to fend for them.

Kids that get everything they want from one parent usually go back to that one parent for everything they want throughout time! Most parents I know don't really want this for their child's or their future.

I run a behavior program that has been really successful even with divorced couples. We set up the same program in each home so that the transition is smoother for the child, easier on the parents and the rules are the same in both places. This program tends to bring even divorced parents closer in thinking. This improves kid's behavior tremendously. If you're interested in more information on the behavior program, please call me at the number listed below.

Good luck!

Dear Dr. Singer,

My husband and I are getting a divorce and are unsure of how to explain this to our kids. We have a 7 and 9-year-old. We want to make sure that we tell them the right way. Can you help? P.P.

Dear P.P.,

Your concern is admirable and getting your children prepared ahead of time will help. First you should know that kids are very resilient and will adjust. It does help if your presentation is calm and prepared ahead of time. The kids I've met seem to have several fears when it comes to divorce. One fear is that they will not get to see one or the other parent at all. Another fear is that life will totally change. Another fear kids have is that they somehow caused the divorce or that it is their fault.

First, we need to reassure kids that divorce in no way, shape or form, is ever their fault. Let them off the hook! I usually ask parents to make sure to try and keep the child's life as stable as possible.

Try to keep the school, home, friends, neighborhood, etc. the same in the child's life as much as can be done. The less adjustments the better. More importantly, the child needs to know that he or she will have free access to both parents. Baring a physically abusive or sexually abusive situation, the children need both parents. Many times, I see two parents feuding with each other who cannot believe that a child might still like or love the other parent.

The truth is, if there is a battle, it is between you and your spouse. Not between your spouse and child. Your child loves both of you and should. Therefore, if the child is kept out of the adult situation as much as possible and is allowed to believe that both parents will be accessible, the child usually adjusts better.

Additionally, the more you and your spouse can communicate and put your problems aside for the good of your child, the better the adjustment will be. If you make your child feel safe and then follow through, things should be O.K. You might also want to have this talk in a therapist's office since things can come up and a therapist can help you to watch for things you might not think of ahead of time. Good luck!

Birdwatching in your backyard

Besides watching my garden grow, nothing gives me more pleasure than watching nature's most mobile animal—the bird. Birds alone can go anywhere they please on the earth's surface. Some never stray from home in their entire lives, yet others span entire oceans or continents, sometimes in a single flight.

It is not surprising then that birds are easily observed and have captured our imagination. Their attributes and habits provided a rich source of inspiration to us since prehistoric times. Throughout history, birds have been used to symbolize particular qualities: the owl, the dove of peace, the bluebird of happiness, and so on. There are many myths and legends about birds, some of uncertain origin. Through the centuries, people have delighted in observing the activities of the birds frequenting the land around their homes. Their beauty being a source of joy and wonder, and at times consolation. When I'm feeling down and I spot a beautiful cardinal in my evergreen tree outside my kitchen window, I can't help but feel happy and appreciate God's creation.

Providing food, water and nesting sites for birds in your yard will increase the opportunity for observing birds in your yard. It will also help many species that in recent years have struggled to find suitable nesting and foraging habits.

Once they have discovered your yard, many birds will keep coming back. Some migratory birds, such as white crowned sparrows and purple finches, will return to spend winter in the same yard year after year. Birds need food, water and protection from predators. For your feeder station to be as effective as possible, it's important to provide appropriate food presented in the right way.

GARDEN JOURNAL

proper food presented in the right way.

To assist local birds and increase opportunities for observing bird behavior, you may also decide to put up a nestbox or two. And, if you have the space, cultivating trees and other plants will help turn your yard into a veritable wildlife refuge.

Backyard birding can provide you with a rich insight into the life cycle of birds. Birds generally follow a regular routine. They do the same things—feeding, preening, bathing—at the same time each day. Even if you only attract a few common species, being able to watch them at different times of the day, for as long as you want is a great way to learn more about them.

Watching birds in your backyard will also help you hone your identification skills. In the field, most songbirds move quickly and keep their distance from humans. Difficult to see, they are even harder to name. Birdfeeders and nestboxes bring birds to the observer, and if birds feel protected, they will become confident to spend long periods around buildings and people. This makes it far easier for you to identify them and learn more about them by consulting field guides. Start observing and enjoy nature's fine feathered friends! Peace.

Achieving independence to go home

Nursing facilities are becoming more than just places where people live out the remainder of their lives. As life expectancy rates increase and hospital stays shorten, nursing facilities are becoming treatment and rehabilitation centers. Their personnel are trained to improve the quality of life, provide rehabilitation and promote independent living. The team of rehabilitation professionals at Victory Lakes helps residents achieve independence so they can return home.

Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center, Lindenhurst, returns more than 80 percent of its Medicare and short-term care residents to their homes. In 1996, this meant more than 130 people returned home after an interim stay at Victory Lakes. These are people who need services like physical rehabilitation after surgery or who require skilled nursing services, such as teaching new diabetics to give themselves insulin injections.

Therapy is available six days a week. Victory Lakes is staffed with three physical and two occupational therapists, as well as one speech/language pathologist. Together, they treat residents according to individual activity tolerance. Some residents can undergo therapy for as much as three hours each day. The goal of rehabilitation is to help residents achieve independence in their mobility, activities of daily living and communications so that they can safely return home. If total independence is not achieved, the therapists train family members or caregivers to provide the help needed.

"In addition to daily therapy, we have a Functional Maintenance Program conducted by two rehabilitation aides and supervised by the therapists," said Silvia Faidutti, licensed occupational therapist at Victory Lakes. therapy, and they work individually (under supervision) to maintain their level of function.

Victory Lakes' qualified staff of registered nurses, licensed practical nurses and certified nursing assistants are on duty 24 hours per day. They work with residents to increase confidence in their new or relearned skills. The average length of stay of people needing skilled therapy and nursing services is 20 to 30 days, depending on diagnosis.

"The best way to tell you about rehabilitation services at Victory Lakes is to share the success stories of Diana and Lynn," said Mary Riggs, vice president of Long Term Care.

Diana is a 54-year-old active wife and mother of a 7-year-old. While on vacation, she suffered a severe stroke. Diana was admitted to Victory Lakes after a month of severe medical complications. When Diana arrived, she was in a wheelchair, unable to walk. In addition to needing total care in bathing, dressing, and feeding, simple tasks like brushing her teeth and combing her hair were impossible. Her swallowing was limited and Diana required a pureed diet to prevent choking. Besides her physical limitations, Diana had difficulty remembering things.

Diana participated in physical, occupational, and speech therapy at Victory Lakes from Monday through Saturday each week. As a result, her strength, coordination and swallowing improved each day. Her ability to walk, dress, feed herself and take

Campaign against domestic violence

In a dramatic demonstration of community determination to collectively address the issue of domestic violence, key Lake County leaders have signed on as charter members of the new Advisory Council for A Safe Place/Lake County Crisis Center. Advisory Council members include leaders in business, health care, education, politics, law and law enforcement.

The new council members will bring their proven ideas and expertise to bear in helping A Safe Place address the pervasive problem of domestic violence.

The agency is interested in exploring innovative avenues to reach and serve victims of domestic violence. This year's new emphasis is on prevention.

"The Advisory Council's advice will be invaluable," commented A Safe Place executive director Phyllis A DeMott.

"However, we want our interaction with our new Council members to be a two-way street. We will keep them fully updated on developments pertaining to the issue of domestic violence, and we hope they will use their extensive area contacts to both help us educate the public and keep us aware of community needs as they see them."

Charter members of A Safe Place's new advisory council are:

Sally Bullen, vice president, corporate human resources, Kemper Insurance; Scott Burleson, chief, Waukegan Police Dept.; Carol Calabrese, Dist. 15 representative, Lake County Board; Clair Callan, MD, divisional vice president, hospital productions division, Abbott Laboratories; William C. ## Golf outing to benefit leukemia research

The first annual "Angels in the Fairway" golf outing, presented by F.H. Paschen Co., will be held Wednesday, Aug. 6, at Midlane Golf Club in Wadsworth. Proceeds benefit the Leukemia Research Foundation.

The event is in memory of 3 1/2-year-old Joey Mix of Buffalo Grove, who lost his battle to leukemia last August. Following Joey's death, his parents, Larry and Patty Mix, established the "Joey's Angels Chapter" of the Lincolnwood-based Leukemia Research Foundation.

Corporate foursomes and individual playing spots are available with luncheon featuring the Jesse White Tumblers, awards dinner and a sports memorabilia auction as part of the day's activities. For more information or to reserve a team at the "Angels in the Fairway" golf outing, call the Leukemia Research Foundation at 982-1480.

Leukemia is a malignant condition in which white blood cells grow beyond the needs of the body, eventually interfering with the function of vital organs, and if uncontrolled, causing death. Leukemia is the most common cause of death among young people ages 1 to 24, second only to accidents.

Lundquist, are expected to be among competitors.

The goal of the 1997 competition is to raise $30,000. Races begin at 7 a.m. at North Avenue Beach.

Retuning home care of her personal needs steadily progressed. Diana was eventually given tasks to complete on her own, which gave her the confidence to return home.

Victory Lakes' therapists assessed her home for safety before she left. They even took Diana grocery shopping so she would feel comfortable planning a list, shopping and managing money to pay for her purchases.

When Diana first came to Victory Lakes, she and her husband anticipated at least a four-month stay. Because of her hard work and the Victory Lakes' team effort, she was able to return home and to her family in just 50 days! Diana's husband, Pat, said it best, "Now I have my wife back."

Lynn, an 84-year-old gentleman, lived with his wife. He was an avid golfer and an active Victory Lakes' volunteer. In November 1996, he was hospitalized for several weeks with a severe case of pneumonia. He spent 11 days in intensive care. Lynn went directly home after the hospital stay and continued therapy through home health care. Unfortunately, Lynn was spending increasing amounts of time in bed and his condition got worse instead of better. He became so weak, his wife could no longer care for him at home. Lynn agreed to enter Victory Lakes for a "short time" to receive therapy, around-the-clock care and support his wife could not longer give him.

When Lynn first arrived, he was bed-bound and nauseated all the time. As he progressed in therapy and spent less time in bed, his health improved rapidly. After a four-week stay, Lynn was able to return home. He has also resumed his volunteer work and "Memories with Lynn," is his weekly program for the Victory Lakes residents.

Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center in Lindenhurst, provides assisted living, Medicare certified, short term care, intensive rehabilitation, respite care, a specialized "Sunshine Wing" for those who suffer from Alzheimer's disease, and quality long-term, skilled nursing care.

Landscaper architect claims all a myth

Landscaping in the summer is bad.

A myth: Planting gardens in the summer can be done. Plants that have been pre-dug in the spring are ready to be moved into the ground. Precautions must be taken in the transporting of plant material to a site. Tarping your plants is a must as well as possible extra watering after the installation.

When insects are detected on a plant just about any insecticide will work.

A myth: The most important thing to do is identify the insect. Then find it's most vulnerable or weakest stage in it's life cycle, then apply the proper insecticide. By doing this home-work first, less chemicals will need to be applied throughout the year.

Last night it rained a bit so watering of the plants is not important.

A myth: Plants need one-inch of water a week to remain in good health, especially newly transplanted material. Deep watering is preferred and since our soils are heavy in clay, watering once a week for established plantings is good. Newer plants may need a bit more watering the first season.

Clay is very bad for plants.

A myth: Clay soils that are broken up into small pieces are beneficial to a plant. Nutrients are now available to the plants when this is done.

Pruning should only be done when plants are dormant.

A myth: Some plants may need attention now. Remove cross branching or any branches growing in towards the middle of the plant. Some plants may need to be shaped, and this can be done now. A storm may have broken some branches and they need to be removed and clean cut to keep out insects or disease.

FOLK: Music standing the test of time

It can also be quite modest in its approach to people and performers.

"My first guitar was bought with S&H Green Stamps," said Zahn as he described his career. It started with "my first professional gig" in 1964. He can still recall the inspiring imagery of Gordon Lightfoot's "Early Morning Rain." "I could see the song," he said. He also picked up on the positive attitude in Phil Ochs' "The Way It's Going to Be." "When I heard those lyrics and all the pictures went through my mind, I said, 'I want to do that,'" Zahn said.

It wasn't until a few years ago that he began to write his own material. "In 1992, I wrote the first song I really felt good about, that said what I wanted to say," he said.

Today as a performer, he sings music by many writers. "I have local friends who allow me to do their material. I am lucky in that." He sings these songs on his concert tours through Kansas, South Dakota, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Minnesota. "I'm happy that I can go out and do a living at what I love."

"Lake County has always been home to me," he said, although he currently lives in Hanover Park with his family.

"I spent the majority of my formative years in a house on an island in Squaw Creek," he said. It was from that part of his life that he wrote and recorded his song, "Fox Lake, Illinois."

Zahn's music is what VanderVennet is making available to people by mail order. He has Zahn's "Iowa Rose" album which he released in October 1993 and "Sunrise" which was released in the Spring of 1996. VanderVennet has released Amy Beth's "Amy Beth Self Portrait" and Julie Singing Wind's "Timeless Voice." He has also released Acoustic Prism's "Pack Up Your Sorrows." Acoustic Prism includes within itself a group named Whyte Knuckles consisting of John Cavalier, Debbie Hackett, and Dave Borton.

There are folk programs at the Adler Center in Libertyville, and the Mast House programs in Woodstock. The entry points to the music are in taverns, at festivals in parks, and on the compact disc player. It is Lake County music from the lyrics through the performers to the venue and the tapes.

"There's still a very strong group of people who like folk music," said Amy Beth.

"People like this music," said VanderVennet. "I think folk music has a loyal following, that it never really died," said Zahn.

That is how they tell it in conversation. But when Zahn sings of similar sentiments in Mike Offutt's "Whistle on the Wind," it sounds like: "You don't have to worry 'bout leavin' this world, if you know someone will listen for your song."

Lake County people have many opportunities to listen for their song.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

The end of the month seems to bring the end of your good mood. Don't get discouraged; you feel happier by the week's end. A co-worker asks for your advice on a project. Be honest even if you think your opinion will not be appreciated. A loved one comes to you for help. Don't let him or her down.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

Even though you may want to, don't lock yourself in the house this week. There's more to life than just work and sleep. Go out on the town; you'll meet interesting people who can turn into good friends. A romance even may bloom. Another Taurus figures prominently in your life late in the week.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

Don't let a co-worker talk you out of something that you truly want to do. You know what you are capable of, and you shouldn't let anyone stop you. When it comes to your love life, you have the time of your life this weekend. A close friend reveals his or her true feelings for you, and you are flattered.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

A superior at work trusts you with a company secret; don't let him or her down by telling others. Your loyalty wins you praise and will benefit you in the future. A loved one asks you to help with a friend. While you feel out of place, your input is truly needed and will be taken seriously.

Leo - July 23/August 23

You are the center of attention wherever you go this week, whether at work or at play. Your manager puts you in the spotlight when you create a plan that will serve the company well. Your outgoing nature wins praise from your friends and loved ones. Capricorn plays a key role early in the week.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

You aren't able to sit still at work, because co-workers and managers continually give you more work to do. Don't get overwhelmed. If you remain calm, you can handle it all. As for loved ones, they have you jumping through hoops to get a family matter taken care of. While it's frustrating, everything works out in the end.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Try not to be gullible this week, because co-workers try to take advantage of you. Stand your ground, and don't make any quick decisions. That special someone whom you've been dating wants to step up the relationship. Think about what you really want before saying yes. Leo and Cancer are involved later in the week.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Stand tough at work early in the week. It seems as if nothing is going your way. Yet, don't get depressed, because things get back to normal soon. A friend introduces you to an interesting stranger. Don't be shy; get to know him or her.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

Your gregarious nature is challenged during the middle of the week when a loved one blames you for a family problem. Don't immediately get on the defensive. You know you are not at fault, but yelling will not remedy the situation. Remain calm, and be rational. Leo plays a key role.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

You have a well-deserved week of rest, Capricorn. All of the hard work you've been putting in at your job and with family members finally pays off. Take some time for yourself; just relax. Do the things you normally don't have time to do. You'll thank yourself for it.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

It's a good thing that you are a tranquil person, Aquarius, because you have a trying week in front of you. Things at work seem to backfire, and for every step forward, you take two steps back. Family members also demand a lot of you this week. No matter what you do, it doesn't seem to be enough. Things get better by the week's end.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

You gain a sense of freedom this week. Everything that was holding you back at work seems to disappear. With no barriers in front of you, you make great strides and get noticed by the higher-ups. That special someone surprises you with a romantic evening. Enjoy it to its fullest.

Lakeland Newspapers / B13

Get it off your chest (847) 223-8073

Lakeland Newspapers does not claim the content or the subject matter as fact, but as the personal opinion of the caller. Lakeland Newspapers reserves the right to edit copy or to refrain from printing a message. Call in at 223-8073 and leave your message 24-hours a day. ### Wrong priorities

I'm calling about Round Lake Park police. There were three shootings and a fire bombing that don't appear in the paper, but if you have a group of kids standing around, they'll arrest them for mob action. What's our money paying for? Not the police!

Thanks for baking

Big hats off and a thank you to the 19 ladies who baked, frosted and decorated cakes for the 90th anniversary. Also thanks to the one lady who donated money, all from Lakeland Apartments in Fox Lake. I hear they had a ball doing it.

Thanks a lot

To our wonderful Round Lake Beach village board: I really want to thank you for the new garbage service. It's now 10 minutes to 7 p.m. on a Thursday night and our garbage is still sitting in front of our house. Our neighbors don't have garbage cans as yet and we've had this service for two weeks now. What was wrong with Waste Management? You really made a bad decision.

Clarification

In regard to "Old town thinking," that appeared on July 10 in Lipservice, this is Joyce Frayer. If these people would read their paper correctly, I do not oppose signs in the village of Lake Villa, and I did not when I was mayor. What I oppose are signs that are illegal according to the village's ordinance.

Illegal mail

I got a letter in my mailbox stating that my dog barked all night. I work a third-shift job and leave for work at 9:30 p.m. and don't get home until 6 a.m. I don't think anyone can complain about my dogs, because they're locked in my home when I'm not there. I can complain about someone putting this in my mailbox. I thought it was against the law to put something in a mailbox without a stamp.

Ingleside

Get your own club

I read in the paper that Buffalo Grove is making waves again. Now they have a gentleman that's making it tough for his son to join the Boy Scouts because he can't adhere to the rules. There's lots of things in this country that you have to follow rules for. As far as being discriminatory, they tell you in Buffalo Grove what kind of animal you can own. I think the atheists should have their own club so they don't have to bother other folks.

I'm baaaaaack

Hi, Lake County. Remember me? I'm the man who got his license taken away because of a medical incident in November, 1996. Well, the Illinois Medical Review just came through for me and they're reinstating my license. I hope to be driving by July 24. My birthday's on July 31 and I can't think of a better birthday gift than to get my independence back. I still stand by my original statement that the state needs to reevaluate the medical guidelines for taking away a person's driving license.

Ray not the assassin?

While on a business trip recently to Memphis, Tenn., I took time out to visit Moraine Motel, which is just southeast of downtown. It's the motel where Martin Luther King was assassinated. Now it's a museum. They allow you to stand just outside the room where he was gunned down. You can clearly see and draw your own conclusions that from the window where they say James Earl Ray fired the gun, there is no way that James Earl Ray, from that window, could have fired the fatal shot. I know of no bullet that can make a 45-degree turn.

Moral police are out

I'm reading about everybody complaining about everything. I want to let people know that the moral police are looking out for my interests and I appreciate it. They've killed Joe Camel, the Marlboro Man, and they're now going after the Budweiser frogs to kill them, too. I appreciate them looking after my interests. But the person they should go after is Ronald McDonald because he makes kids eat those hamburgers with all that cholesterol. If that's not good enough, let's get after Burger King for taking all the fish out of the ocean.

Nothing's being done

It's pretty sad to see how the Round Lake Park police have changed. With all the things going on here, nothing's being done. All they have to say is, you should have seen it coming. When one of their officers is shot, or someone is killed, will they think they should have seen it coming? The only people they're protecting are the ones that have guns and doing firebombing. Aren't they here to serve and protect, or just serve and harass? Are they scared? I know I am!

Round Lake Park

Get more bids

I'm calling in response to the recent decision of the Wadsworth leadership to extend $4,900 to landscape the outside of the village hall. The landscaping company may very well be a reputable, award-winning company, and the $4,900 price may very well be good and fair. However, the failure of the Wadsworth officials to request another bid has the appearance of impropriety. The process is important. It is only in a second or third bid that you can determine the asking price of the first bid is truly good and fair. We, the homeowners of Wadsworth, seek second, third and fourth bids as a matter of course. We should expect the village officials to do the same.

I'd like to compliment Trustee Weakley in Lake Zurich for recommending we not release the credit letters from the builders before the project is finished. This happened in other subdivisions and they were left with bills from fixing the drainage. We still have a problem that hasn't been repaired. Ramirez let the builders get away with a lot.

Is it news?

Journalism 101 says that if a dog bites a man, that doesn't have any newsworthy value. But if a man bites a dog, then that's newsworthy.

Would it still be newsworthy if that man was Mike Tyson?

Why now?

I live on the east side of Lake Zurich and I'm wondering why the village is doing a traffic study in July, during a low traffic time when school is out and people are on vacation. Shouldn't this be done at a time when there's a lot of traffic. Is this so they can tell the residents we don't really have a traffic problem, when we do?

Quit laziness

Have you driven through a very wealthy neighborhood recently? Have you noticed that they don't store their garbage pails in front of their house. It destroys the neighborhood's property values, and yours in the long run. Store them in your garage or make something to keep them hidden from the street. Keeping them out front is lazy.

Unfair treatment

I was pulled over by the Round Lake Beach police department. I was in front of my friend's house and they stopped us and made me get out of the car and took pictures of me just because of what I was wearing. They said I was affiliated with gangs. It was a bunch of crap and really bogus.

Solve some crimes

Hey, RLPD, stop spending so much time hauling kids out of yards to search them when they're not doing anything wrong. Start trying to solve some crimes, isn't that why you're here? Or maybe you think certain people in this town don't deserve your help. Stop hanging out at White Hen and the gas station and start working.

Watch drivers

I'm ticked off at the way a Lakeland driver came through our Willows of Greenwood intersection. The van just rolled right down Linden with no care of any stop signs anywhere. Please look into this.

Chuckle, chuckle

Hi, I'm a 47-year resident of Round Lake Beach. My school-teacher daughter-in-law was having a meeting in her home and asked me to take care of her six-year-old daughter. During the course of the afternoon, she asked Grandma, "What did you do when you were older?" I said, "Holly, don't you mean younger?" She said, "Oh, yes, Grandma, I meant what did you do when you were younger?" I replied, "I was an executive secretary." "Oh," she said, knowingly, "You took care of dead people." Bye-bye!

Best she can do?

It's a shame that the conflicts still exist between people like Trustee Bob Russell and Trustee Tim Rafferty, who believe that it's okay to call other residents names and insult them and those who don't think this behavior is acceptable. What's even more of a shame is that the person we call mayor of Grayslake hasn't lead us to resolution of this conflict. How about it, Mayor Carey, are you going to utilize those consensus building skills you profess to have, or is this the best you can do?

Grayslake

Rodeo is a disgrace

I wanted to express my opinion that the Wauconda Rodeo is a disgrace to all those who care about animals. In the July 10 issue of the Wauconda Leader, Spencer Schein refers to the Earth Network program bucking the rodeo, that it attempts to educate people about the abuse going on at the rodeo and calls it "alleged" abuse. All someone has to do is watch the video or attend the rodeo to see for themselves that the animal abuse at the rodeo is not merely alleged. It's happening in our town every year with the support of the Wauconda Chamber of Commerce and it's shameful.

Wauconda

Bang-up job

I want to salute Pete Jakstas and his crew for the bang-up job they did on the Fourth of July fireworks display in Mineola Bay. They did an outstanding job and Fox Lake should be proud to have people like them. My hat's off to all those people who financially supported the fireworks display. You definitely got a good bang for your buck.

Considering investment alternatives

People who invest in CDs are realizing that rates just aren't what they used to be. As CDs mature, or when they look at investing their retirement lump sum distribution, the reality that rates are lower than they have been in several years hits investors hard.

People are seeking alternative investments in greater and greater numbers. This diversification may not only increase their yields, but can add positive long-term dimensions to their investment programs.

Here are some options to consider:

- Stretch out the time frame of the investments. Many people keep their money in maturities of one year or less. By spreading their investments over different time lengths, money comes available for reinvestment on different dates. This limits the risk of having to take what you can get when all your money comes due at once.

- Look into annuities. Annuity contracts are popular alternatives to CDs. When you purchase an annuity, the money is deposited with an insurance company. During the "buildup phase," the money collects interest at competitive rates—in many cases, one or two percentage points higher than CDs. During the "payout phase," the insurance company makes regular payments to the investor, while the remaining balance continues to earn interest.

- Look into stock funds. Financial professionals generally say equities should be a part of most investment portfolios. While prices can be volatile, over time the stock market has averaged an annual return of approximately 10 percent. Use assets you don't expect to need for the next few years, and use tested techniques such as dollar cost averaging into stock funds to make these investments.

Life in the ER

How close is television to reality?

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

The hit television series ER brings real-life drama into American homes each week, but how close is television to reality?

According to Registered Nurse Denise Tucker, director of Emergency Services at St. Therese Medical Center in Waukegan, the show does a good job portraying the medical aspects of patient care, but she adds, "we are definitely not having as much fun in the ER as they seem to be."

Tucker says today's emergency rooms are most concerned with treating patients quickly and efficiently and utilize the latest in technology to do so. The most difficult issue ER personnel face is having to first check with patients on insurance issues before treating them.

"Managed care has changed the way we treat patients," Tucker said. "Before managed care we took care of them, no strings attached so to speak." Tucker says managed care can make it difficult because hospital personnel have to take time to ask patients questions about whether or not they have notified their primary care physician before they can begin treatment.

"It's difficult because the patients often get upset about the line of questioning, but if we don't ask and they get stuck with the bill, they are upset, too."

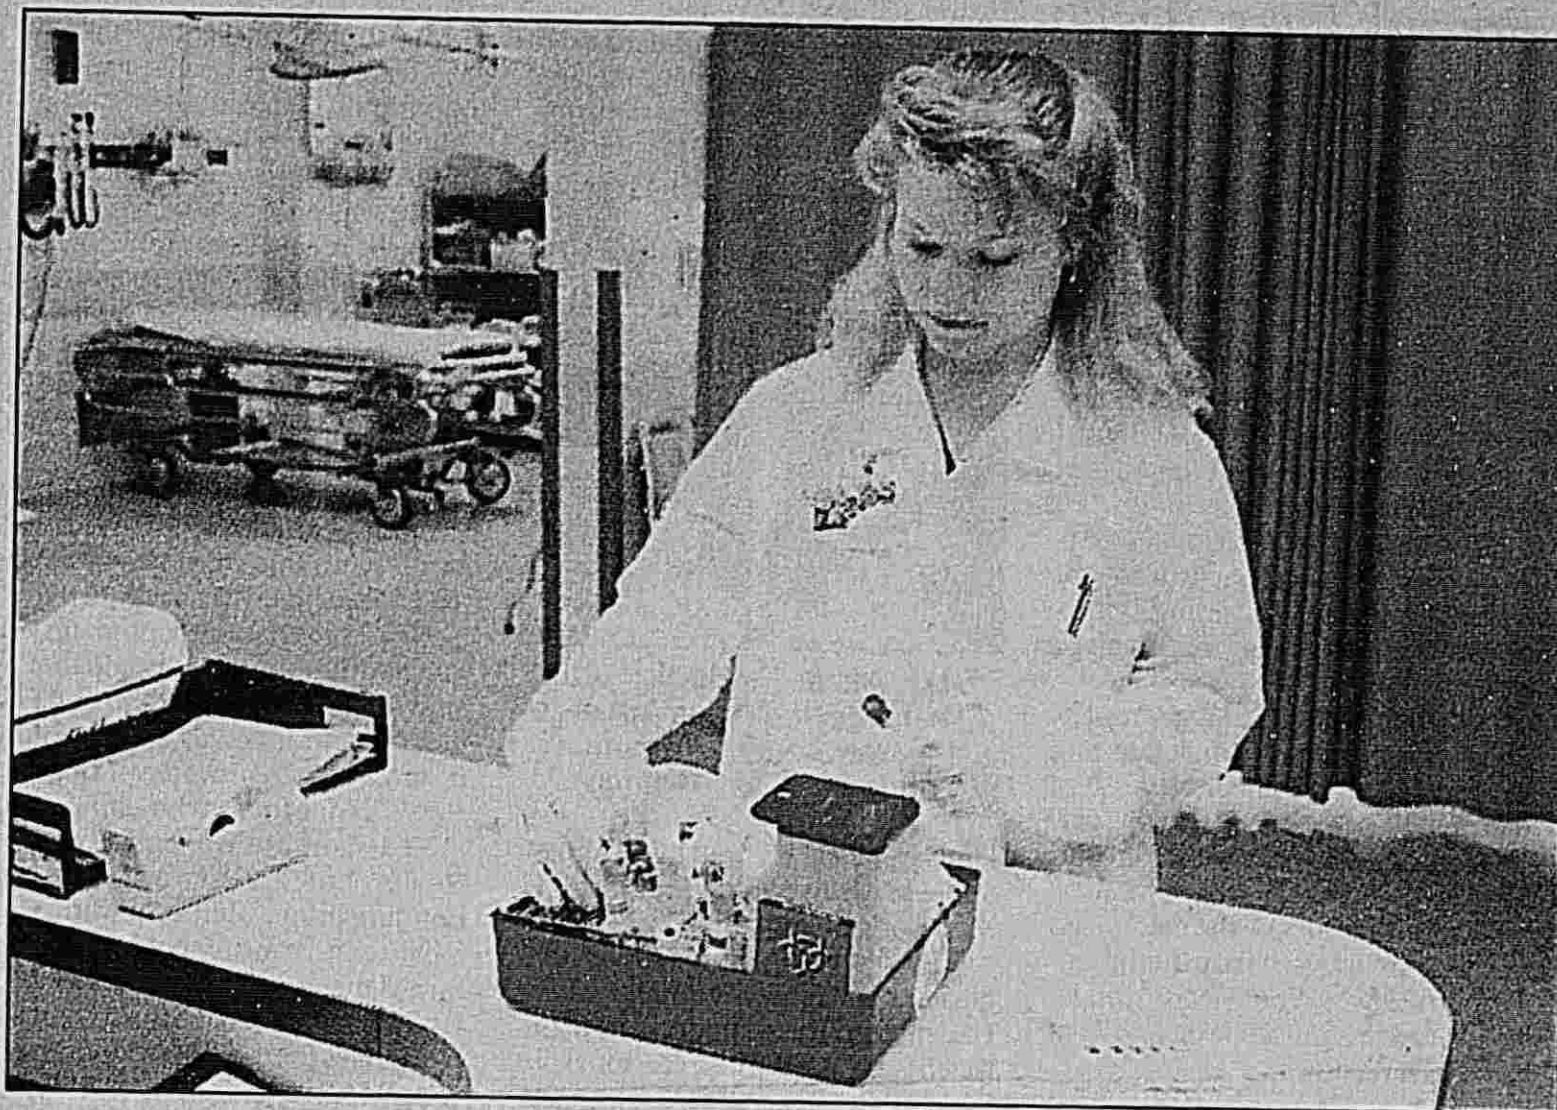

To help alleviate problems with managed care, the hospital has established an educational program for patients and hospital personnel which explained the issue.

"We feel education is really the key," Tucker said. "Emergency room care, however, can not be denied to a patient because they don't have insurance. Under the federal regulation COBRA, ER's have to treat anyone and you can't interrupt a person's care because they don't have insurance."

St. Therese is a busy ER treating more than 30,000 patients last year.

"We see all types of patients with various medical conditions," Tucker said. "In that way the television show does portray real life." St. Therese is a Level 2 trauma facility, which is the highest level of any of the hospitals in Lake County. Condell Medical Center is also a Level 2.

"What it means to be a Level 2 is that the hospital personnel working in the ER must have a certain level of continuing educational certificates

a four-part series

that must be kept up and reviewed periodically," Tucker said.

The regulations apply to both nurses and doctors working in the ER.

"ER personnel are really mini-specialists in a lot of things," Tucker said. "From ear aches to giving paramedics radio advice to clot-busters, they must be able to treat anything that comes in."

"There is certainly nothing boring about working in the ER," Tucker said. "It is a constant change and you are always dealing with variety."

The two primary types of trauma not treated at a level 2 facility are spinal and burn injuries. Those patients are stabilized and then transferred to a higher care facility.

To be qualified as a Level 2 facility, the hospital must trauma surgeons in all specialties available within 30-minutes and have surgical services available 24-hours a day. The ER must also possess certain types of equipment as outlined in the Illinois Dept of Public Health Code.

The primary role of the ER is to stabilize a patient and either complete treatment if it is a non-emergent care issue or move the patient on to the next level of treatment needed.

"Our turn-around time for nearly 80 percent of our patients is one and one-half hours," Tucker said. "Our job is to give the most efficient care in the most timely fashion. A large number of the patients we see are non-emergent care, this is largely due to a lack of access to health care for many patients. They have no option but to go to the emergency room."

Tucker says only about 7 percent of the cases they see each year are intentional trauma such as gun shot wounds, stabbings or self-inflicted injuries. "Most of the trauma we see occurs in automobile accidents and seasonal injuries such as boating accidents," Tucker said.

In a busy ER, one of the biggest challenges is not to lose sight of patient care while caring for medical problems.

"We try to keep family members as informed as possible during the procedures," Tucker said. "We usually allow one-person to remain with the patient when they want to, as long as they understand that they must leave the room if asked."

One of the more unique approaches to St. Therese's patient care is its pastoral care department.

"There is always a pastor assigned to the ER to be with patients if needed," Tucker said. "The ER works very closely with the pastoral care department."

Another patient-orientated feature of the ER is a family room where family members can gather and have some privacy.

"It has been very helpful, because it gives them a chance to be out of the way of the mainstream part of the ER and be together while waiting for news on their loved one," Tucker said.

Follow-up surveys are sent to each patients to evaluate the quality of care provided and seek ways to improve.

"The quality of patient care is very important to us," Tucker said. "We always want to know how we could do things better."

One of the latest technology uses in the ER is clot-busters. "We have clot boxes, which are set up and ready to go which saves time," Tucker said. These are used on a patient

Opposing income tax bid 'difficult' choice for Moore

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

The age of straight party voting may be going by the way of old election methods soon.

Beginning in next year's statewide elections, voters will have to mark each ballot position if they wish to cast a ballot.

"Most feel this will benefit the Republicans," State Rep. Andrea Moore said.

The Libertyville Republican said the new methods will mean candidates will have to do a "different kind of campaigning to draw attention to their office."

In Lake County, Republicans historically had 30 percent set by straight party voting.

Moore is in her fifth year as state representative and is planning to seek re-election. She spoke of the process and different political interests at work in Springfield.

"It is very difficult to appreciate how diverse the different areas of the state are and their needs. Something that would make perfect sense here may not apply elsewhere," she said.

She is minority spokesperson for issues relating to revenue. These matters included the debate last spring when Gov. James Edgar proposed a state income tax hike to fund education.

"I got many letters from the people in Warren Township. The education debt in Warren Township is $95 million - that is a large amount. The governor was making a lot of enemies with the state income tax proposal. But you have to respect him, even if you disagree with him. Opposing the income tax hike was one of the hardest decisions I have ever had to make," Moore said.

She said the tax benefit to education was not significant enough to warrant that rate of increase.

Another attempt at a revised tax increase to benefit education could take place in the fall veto session.

Moore said she is proud that $300 million was added to the education budget.

Another area of progress for the state in the last five years was Medicaid payments.

"Five years ago, there was a 90 day wait and Medicaid was $40 billion in debt. Now the payment period is 20 days that is very good," she said.

The economy of the state remains sound, with unemployment at 4.2 percent.

Legislation passed included a tax break for farmers.

Moore mentioned Illinois was in the lead in welfare reform, something the federal government in Washington, D.C. is taking up now.

One issue key to townships is human resource reform and the possibility of more general assistance workload. Some townships such as Warren do not levy for general assistance, relying on their general fund.

"This is a big concern for townships across the state. The rules of eligibility have changed. The intent is not for it to be that way," she said of general assistance demands.

Moore told Gurnee Rotary Club members of a bill, waiting Edgar's signature, of changes in how sales taxes on automobile leases are handled.

Moore: 'The rules of eligibility have changed.'

Ingleside Provides Second At-Large Queen Winner

Gurnee, Lindenhurst, Round Lake Beach Queens Win

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Ingleside provided the second consecutive annual At-Large Pageant Queen candidate winner during an evening that also crowned winners from Gurnee, Lindenhurst, Round Lake Beach, Hawthorn Woods, and Lake Zurich.

The 1997 Lake County Fair At-Large Pageant, held at College of Lake County Sunday evening, selected winning candidates for three age group categories.

Voted to be Miss At-Large Pageant Queen is Jamie Dix, 19, Ingleside. She succeeds last year's winner, Natalie Nix, also of Ingleside. "That's two in a row for Ingleside," said Pageant Director and Master of Ceremonies, John W. Lynn, as he introduced the new queen to a packed College of Lake County auditorium July 13. Voted Miss Congeniality was Shannon Konen, 17, of Hawthorn Woods.

Dix may have one of the most unusual backgrounds of any queen candidate in the State of Illinois. After she graduated from high school, she went into the armed forces and is now part of the reserves. She is familiar with shooting an M-16 weapon, tossing live hand-grenades, and surviving military training for gas warfare conditions. She seeks to become an officer in the military and "wants to be all she can be."

Two Junior Miss candidates were selected in the at-large pageant. One was Molly Meyer, 13, from Gurnee. She was also awarded a specialty award for best hair by the pageant judges for that contestant category.

Elected At-Large Junior Miss was

Dix: Miss At-Large Pageant Queen

Hook: Little Miss At-Large Pageant Queen

Lindsey Bailey, 11, from Lindenhurst. She was also voted by her peers as Miss Congeniality.

The first runner-up Junior Miss candidate was Whitney Sehmer, 13, from Lindenhurst. The second runner-up selected was Beth Barnett, 13, from Lake Zurich. Barnett was also given a specialty award by the judges in that category as best model among the contestants.

The judges selected Stacie Bracewell, 12, from Gurnee for a specialty award for the best smile.

At-Large Pageant Little Miss Queen is Aubreyanne Hook, 8, from Round Lake Beach. The first runner-up selected by judges is Jennifer Mankowsky, 7, from Hawthorn Woods. The second runner-up is Tasha Thompson, 8, from Ingleside.

The at-large pageant provides an opportunity for contestants in Lake County to enter a title contest if their home community does not sponsor one for which they would be eligible to compete. Contestants from all communities and the at-large pageant will also compete at the Lake County Fair. Winners at the County Fair will then move on to State of Illinois pageants.

1996 At-Large Pageant Miss Queen Natalie Nix expressed thanks for the opportunity to serve during the past year. She told Pageant Director Lynn that his role in creating the pageant every year was "a thankless job" but that the candidates appreciate his efforts. Lynn said that he enjoyed the opportunity to conduct the pageants and that "meeting contestants is a great world of thanks." He said that those who compete in the pageant are wonderful people. He also noted, "Pageantry is a very bonding thing." Jodie Stewart, Miss Lake County, also spoke and reinforced those observations. She said, "It's the beauty inside that counts."

Judges for the Little Miss pageant were Monica Gundrum and Wendi Teresi of Mundelein, and Laurie Stahl of Antioch. Judges for the Junior Miss pageant were Marilla Millner, Mundelein, Nell Rice, Vernon Hills, and Angie Schenk, Gurnee. Judges for the Miss pageant were Stacy Evenson, Zion, and Kenneth L.R. Patchen, Trevor, Wisconsin. Tabula-tors were Joan Baginski, Buffalo Grove, and Pat Koch, Gurnee.

Contestants in the at-large pageant represented the following communities in addition to those previously mentioned. In the Little Miss pageant, they are Alyssalyn Ponsi from Park City, Ruth Redmond and Breanna Gianopoulos from Round Lake Beach, Kayla Truss from Round Lake, Christina Tomaras from Hawthorn Woods, Casi Kneeland from North Chicago, and Jennifer Boyke from Round Lake Park.

In the Junior Miss pageant, participants were Whitney Sehmer from Lindenhurst, Heather Garrett and Catherine Pirrello from Round Lake Park, Jennifer Baker from Gurnee, Julie Black from Spring Grove, Cassandra Blauvelt from Round Lake Beach, Megan Guritz from Long Grove, Jessica Enright from Antioch, and Julie Morby from Warren Township.

The third Miss Contestant was Kristy Anderson of Grayslake.

The assistant pageant directors were Alyce Brownlee, Susan Craig, Linda Mellijor, Kim Murphy, and Linda Wurtz.

experiencing the symptoms of a heart attack. "This type of technology wasn't available 10 years ago," Tucker said. "We are always looking for ways we can cut our time down in this area of treatment. The next step is stroke care, there have been technology improvements that will assist with the care of stroke victims and we are learning that technology now."

But, Tucker cautions technology alone is not the answer.

"Technology alone does nothing, the staff has to know how to use the technology. It's the quality improvement. How can you treat better, faster and more completely."

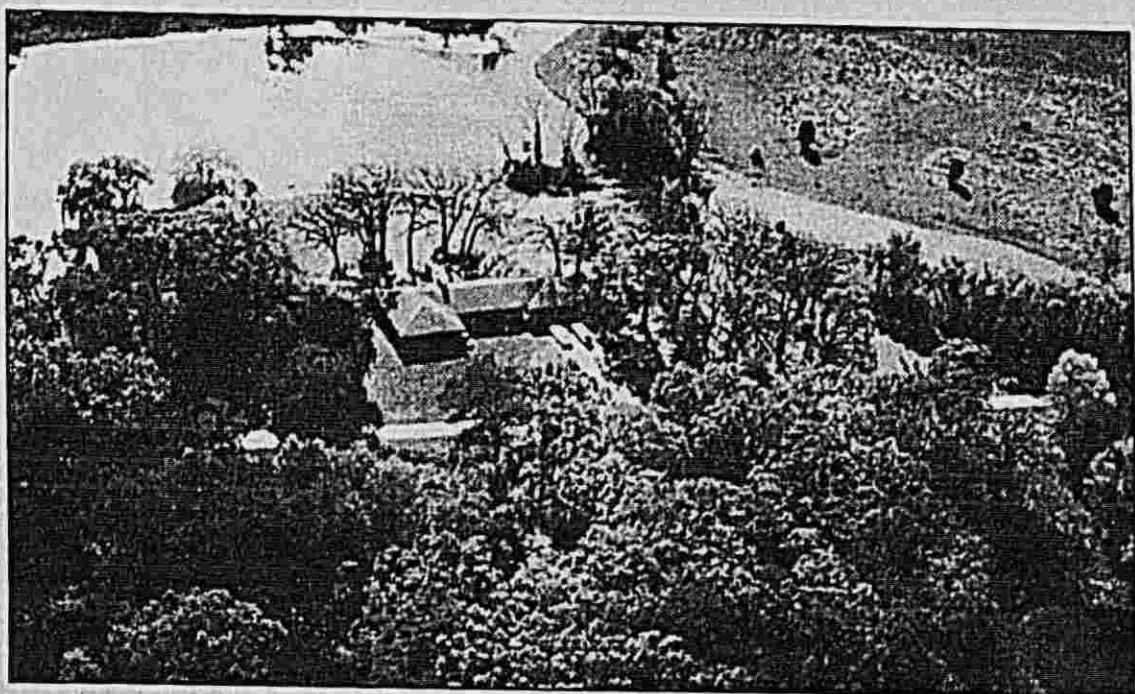

One way many ER personnel are learning to use the latest technology is through the use of interactive computer teaching programs and the Internet.

"There is a wealth of information available through the use of computer technology and most of our hospital educational programs are based on computer through the use of CD Roms," Tucker said. "Our personnel can even earn their continuing education credits by utilizing these programs."

Computers are also utilized in the emergency room to do various tasks including the ordering of drugs and lab tests and establishing patient records.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Tank to increase water volume

Wauconda—Officials have dropped plans to repair a 100,000 gallon elevated water tank built in 1949 and are moving forward to build a new, 500,000 gallon elevated water tank that will increase the village's water volume storage.

The new tank will cost $875,000 and be placed directly north of the Wauconda Fire Department Station No. 1, 109 W. Liberty St. Construction should start later this year.

"What it is going to do is add volume to our storage," said Mayor James Eschenbauch. "We need to increase the storage in town." The village's current water storage among its three elevated tanks is 1.1 million gallons, Eschenbauch said, the same amount the village uses on hot summer days.

Drivers Ed. program doubles

Lake Zurich—Youths who are of age to drive will have a better chance of taking drivers education at Lake Zurich High School, now that the program has been doubled in size. School board members of Lake Zurich Unit District 95 authorized purchasing a drivers education vehicle and hiring a drivers education instructor, giving the school two of each.

The approval came one year after a study was undertaken by the Education Programming Committee to determine ways to improve the program, and decrease the student waiting list to take the class. "This has been a long time coming," said John Schweda, school board member. "This is a good start."

The fee for taking the class has also been raised, from the state cost of $50 to $100 for 1997-1998 and $150 for the following school year. The district could have increased the fee to $300 after receiving approval of a state waiver.

Hit-and-run driver sought

Kildeer—Police seized a station wagon they believe was used in a hit-and-run accident last week. Witnesses told police that the driver of the station wagon drove through a red light on Quentin Road at Route 22 at 8:45 a.m. July 14, striking a vehicle in the intersection before going off to the side of the road, said Sgt. Jeffrey Lilly.

Two men, believed to be co-workers of the offender, were trailing behind the station wagon on a motorcycle, Lilly said. They picked the offender up, and all three drove away on the motorcycle, last seen heading northbound on Quentin Road, police said.

Officers believe they have the identification of the driver, who is a Chicago resident, and are trying to track him down through his employer.

State's Attorney's office are investigating the discovery of a dead infant, found in a restroom trashcan.

The infant was found on Monday, July 21, at approximately 12:44 p.m., in a bathroom at the Manor Care Health Services facility, 1500 S. Milwaukee Ave., in Libertyville. An employee of the facility found the corpse in the bathroom's trashcan and reported the gruesome discovery to the police. Details about the victim and the 20-year-old Waukegan female suspect, are not being released at this time.

Lions to barbecue chickens, Aug. 3

Antioch—Antioch Lions will gather in Centennial Park Aug. 3 to serve chicken barbecue to all village residents who show up.

It is their biggest fund raiser of the year and has traditionally provided major community benefits. It is typical of why the Lions have raised close to $1.5 million over 60 years to benefit Antioch.

"Our annual major fund raiser is the chicken barbecue," Antioch Lions President Bob Mueller said. "We give a majority of the benefits to the Antioch Rescue Squad."

The Lions serve up "25 half-chickens, pretty much every year, plus roasted corn, hamburgers, and hot dogs."

"We have representatives from the state and the district Lions as well as the dignitaries from the township and the Village of Antioch that attend and work the event," he said.

Water discussed for Hickory Haven

Gurnee—Trustees believe there is enough interest in the Hickory Haven subdivision to warrant making water and sewer available there.

Trustees voted 4-1 to instruct staff to come up with further recommendations regarding an "equitable" fee.

"I am satisfied with it. We have come along ways from asking if it is needed or not," resident Greg Olson said.

"If we have just one resident who is interested, we should provide water and sewer," Gurnee Trustee Robert Amaden said.

Of 32 surveys sent to the area residents by the village in June, 17 said they were not interested in sanitary sewer option. Sixteen said they were not interested in the water service option. Those interested in the water service were 13 residents while sanitary sewer service seekers totaled 14 residents. Four funding options were presented. A special service area drew the most support, eight backers or 27.6 percent. Resident paying the frontage drew 20.7 percent and a special assessment only had one favorable response.

Gurnee Trustee Tracie Bullock voted no on the further action, citing a concern for cost.

$48.5 million approved

Libertyville—The Libertyville High School District 128 school board unanimously approved the seeking of $48.5 million in the November 4 referendum.

The referendum budget allows for the renovation of the Butler Lake Campus and the construction of a second campus in Vernon Hills.

Proposed land purchase would create new 533-acre forest preserve

Preservation of an additional 317 acres of rolling woodlands, wetlands and open spaces in western Lake County moved forward following action taken by the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners.

A notice of intent to acquire a 317 acre site, known as the Chicago Title and Trust parcel, was approved by the Forest Preserve Board. The notice of intent is the first official public expression of interest by the Forest Preserve Board and follows review of the property and contact with the owner.

The proposed site meets many of the land acquisition criteria set forward in the successful 1993 Forest Preserve bond referendum, approved by 61 percent of Lake County voters. Based on the 460 acres of proposed acquisitions that the Forest Preserve Board has previously filed notices of intent concerning, purchase of this additional 317 acre parcel would commit the remaining balance of the $20 million in 1993 bond funds earmarked for land acquisition.

The proposed purchase, when combined with a previously designated 216 acre parcel northeast of the site, would create a new 533-acre Forest Preserve in western Lake County. In addition, the purchase would provide a possible route for the planned West Loop Trail and Greenway, a multi-purpose recreation trail linking Forest Preserve and community trail systems in western Lake County; preserve natural oak woodlands and two large high-quality wetlands; and provide wildlife habitat and assist in flood control.

There are currently 20,246 acres of Lake County Forest Preserves. Formed in 1958, the Lake County Forest Preserves have 35 acres preserved per 1,000 residents, more than Forest Preserve Districts in Cook (13 acres per 1,000), DuPage (26 acres), Kane (22 acres), and Will (28 acres) counties.

LC Forest Preserves named finalists in awards program

The Lake County Forest Preserves were named National Gold Medal Finalist for the second year by the National Sporting Goods Assn.'s Sports Foundation.

The National Gold Medal Awards are presented annually to communities throughout the United States as the highest distinction of excellence in the park, conservation and recreation administration field, in cooperation with the National Sporting Goods Assn. (NSGA) and the National Recreation and Park Assn. (NRPA). The Lake County Forest Preserves were nominated for the National Gold Medal Award again this year by NSGA member Play It Again Sports of Vernon Hills.

The Forest Preserve was selected as one of an elite group of four finalists nationwide among agencies serving a population over 250,000. Other finalists included the Cincinnati (Ohio) Recreation Commission, Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission, and the City of Long Beach (California) Dept. of Parks, Recreation and Marine.

Lake County supports a rich and unusual mix of habitats, and is home to more endangered species than any other county in Illinois.

Neighbors put reform in motion

While Illinois sputters and puffs about school reform and revising public education financing, states around Illinois are making strides both in getting a bigger bang for the school buck and how the buck is obtained.

Michigan's education establishment was traumatized with the announcement several years ago that real estate taxes as the basis of school funding would be ended. Real estate taxes were scrubbed and the Michigan system is sailing along. Wisconsin's program of educational vouchers is widely acclaimed. Now comes Minnesota with a tax deduction or tax credit that can be used at any public, private or parochial school of choice.

Changes in Minnesota resulted from Gov. Arne Carlson becoming frustrated with the legislature's failure to lift a cap on the number of deregulated charter schools. Carlson is credited with facing down the teachers' union. Carlson captured attention with the observation that the public wants public education that serves students not bureaucrats. Interesting thought.

Illinois has a charter school program in name only. School administrators, pressured by the unions, and timid and unknowing elected officials aren't giving charter interest the time of day. In Lake County, the school boards at Woodland Elementary and Fremont Consolidated gave an imaginative charter proposal brought forth by a group of parents short shrift. Charter proponents see a change in state law as their only hope.

School board elections will be coming up in November. This will be a good chance for parents and taxpayers to ask some telling questions of the candidates. Let's not heap blame on Springfield politicians all the time. As the Woodland and Fremont experiences indicate, local school officials, too, have a stake in reforms like charter and choice. What are they doing differently to improve the product?

We're all wet; Can't ignore facts

Some folks say Lake County is water-logged, all wet. Others might describe our corner of the world as being distinctive, if not a bit damp. The fact remains that Lake County with 31,259 total wetland acres contains far and away more wetlands than any other county in the Chicago metro area. The other counties aren't even close.

Neighboring McHenry County has quite a bit more marsh, but we're way ahead in shallow water land. For the record, McHenry County has 22,220 total wetland acres, according to Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources figures.

Being wet and soggy a good bit of the time has shaped the Lake County character. Water and wetlands have given us a keen appreciation of the environment. We enjoy the special sights, sounds and smells of the wetland and water environment. Boating is a big sport. Being susceptible to flooding, Lake Countians (with perhaps the exception of developers and urban planners) understand the power of nature. The wetlands make a difference in how and where we build houses and roads. Since wetlands provide habitat for flora and fauna, we're more sensitive to the preservation and protection of other living things.

Even with all its man-made objects, Cook County ranks third with 17,491 wetland acres; Will County is close with 16,798. The metro area is rounded out by DuPage with 10,074 and Kane with 8,891.

Early residents here owed their very lives to wetlands and water. Interestingly, before modern man sought high and dry places, there used to be much more wetland in the region. The rub comes when special interests and politicians forget our heritage or move to eradicate the laws of nature. Lake County didn't get its name on a whim. Water and wetlands are a fact of life. They make us what we are.

Rodeo protestors losing public stake

Like the orators in Bug House Square, no one is paying much attention anymore to the Wauconda Rodeo protestors.

Animal rightists, depicting the rodeo as sort of a four-footed version of Third World population exterminations, continued their ranting and raving, but the three-day event went off without the incidents of past years.

Rodeo fans have learned to put up with the protestors like spectators at University of Illinois home football games. The anti-Chief Illiniwek faction always is in evidence, but the general citizenry no longer gets worked up by their antics. It's just another part of the pageantry.

If anything, the animal rights activists are being done in by their own hypocrisy and outrageous rhetoric. They target the Wauconda Rodeo, but say nary a word about the rodeo at the Lake County Fair several weeks later. Their credibility is undermined with charges that insult the public.

"If you support cruelty, violence and a complete disregard for society's accepted norms of decency, go to the rodeo," activist Steve Hink of North Aurora wrote. Beverly J. Salo, president of an animal protectionist organization, accused State's Atty. Michael J. Waller of turning his back on rodeo cruelty. Not so.

Exaggeration, unfair overstatement, zealotry. The Wauconda Rodeo protestors are yesterday's news.

Source of woe

The Cubs are leading the league in at least one quality. Baloney! Latest is the report that Ryne Sandberg will have the last word on whether the floundering Wrigleys get a new second baseman for 1998.

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Cub management seems to be setting the stage to "back up the truck." And rightly so. But the worn out second baseman is untouchable. A strong argument can be made that Sandberg has been at the core of Cub woes for a long time. Keeping the moody, overrated infielder happy has resulted in all sorts of sappy decisions, including the worst one of all. Letting Greg Maddux go. The Cubs aren't going anywhere until Sandberg goes somewhere.

Slush fund

The campaign to privatize the arts is a good example of how slowly legislation moves through Congress. Legislation ending federal funding of the National Endowment for the Arts originally was introduced by Congressman Phil Crane (R-8th) in 1989. Democratic controlled Congresses routinely rejected Crane's bills. Now the House has moved the end of arts subsidies ahead, much to Crane's delight.

Private sector support of the arts outweighs public funding $9.5 billion to $99.5 million. Crane rightly views the NEA as a slush fund for cronies of liberal politicians, hardly a life-line for downtrodden artists.

Rally renewal

Since originated in 1978, the Annual Lake Geneva Classic Car Rally has raised $251,000 for childhood cancer research. If you're a car buff, you'll want to be on hand for the 20th rally Sept. 27 and 28. For the milestone, three new events have been added. Last year 800 classic, antique and special interest vehicles, including a number of Lake County entrants, toured around Lake Geneva, stopping at five designated stops. Most activities will center around Interlaken Chalet. Get details by calling 414-248-2764. The event was conceived by George Kreissl, a former Fox Lake businessman, in memory of his daughter, Corrine, a cancer victim.

Where to build

Ward Miller, director of the Lake County Stormwater Management Agency, uses his perspective as a flood fighter to make an interesting comment on Lake County home building practices: "Native Americans would not set up teepees where we build houses."

True story

State Rep. Mark Beaubien (R-Barrington) is making an extra effort to counteract the public notion, fed by Democrats, liberals and education bloc lobbyists, that Illinois legislators are stingy with school funds.

Beaubien's basic message is that the state's new budget increases education funding for the third consecutive year. For fiscal year 1997-98 there is a new allocation of $330 million for elementary and secondary education and $110 for higher education. Beaubien emphasizes that the new monies are coming without an increase in taxes. What does it take to get the message across?

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Porter unveils choices for Senate, Governor

Now that distinguished Congressman John Porter (R-Deerfield) put a stop to the media speculation about him possibly running for U.S. Senate in 1998 to unseat Democrat Carol Mosely-Braun, he is beginning to formulate his own speculation on possible choices for senate and governor.

For senate, Porter would like to see Governor Jim Edgar run for the seat coveted by Republicans.

"I think he would be our best candidate. He's moderate and thoughtful," Porter pointed out.

Being moderate is a key quality, Porter believes, because a conservative candidate may sneak in as the GOP candidate, but may lose in a head-on contest against Mosely-Braun. "My worry is if a Republican candidate comes off as an extremist," Porter said.

The senate race also stands to gain its fair share of attention from both Republicans and Democrats. The Republicans would like to break the longtime Democrat stranglehold on the two seats. Although Mosely-Braun has encountered much criticism as of late, Porter believes the Democrats are prepared to go full steam ahead to retain the seat.

"I think the Democrats will make it a high priority. I bet the President will be here six or seven times," Porter predicted.

For guy, Porter likes the chances of current Secretary of State George Ryan. "I think he would make an excellent governor," Porter said. Ryan and Porter have known each other for the past 25 years since they were freshmen legislators in Springfield in 1972.

Although flattered to be encouraged to run for either of the two seats, Porter said he is quite content with his current job, representing the diverse shoreline communities from Waukegan to Evanston.

"I am happy as a clam," Porter said. "I have a wonderful district with experts on every topic in human nature living here."

He also enjoys new leadership roles since the Republicans have gained the majority in the House.

"It would take me, as a junior senator, five years to get where I am now," Porter noted. "I don't need an ego trip."

Party Lines agrees and appreciates the fine service and representation Porter brings to his district and Lake County.

Porter: 'I don't need an ego trip'

Kohn: 'I can't just fake it.'

George: Archbishop to visit Lake County

New spotlight

Speaking of Porter, Party Lines learned Porter's press secretary, David Kohn, just celebrated his 12-year anniversary working for the Congressman.

Kohn hails from Mundelein, specifically the Diamond Lake area, and first met the Congressman when he was working as a reporter and talk show host for WKRS Radio in Waukegan.

"I did my last broadcast from the Lake County Fair and then went to Washington for the orientation," Kohn recalled. "I'm still trying to figure it out," Kohn quipped about his press secretary post.

Although Kohn generally remains in Porter's district to answer questions and concerns, the now veteran press secretary made a rare trip to Washington last week to help Porter pass a $270 billion appropriations bill.

While Kohn may be well-versed handling the Lake County and Chicago media, he admitted to being a little nervous about responding to a barrage of questions and inquiries from the national media in regards to Porter's $270 billion appropriations bill, the second largest spending bill that goes before Congress.

"I can't just fake it," Kohn said before his Washington departure. "I really have to know what I'm talking about."

Quite a change from the council wars Kohn used to cover in Waukegan and North Chicago—or maybe not.

Charitable spirit

The Most Reverend Francis George, Archbishop of Chicago, will make a trip to Lake County to dedicate the recently completed "Joseph Cardinal Bernardin Center for Lake County Services" on Wednesday, Aug. 6, at 5 p.m. The new facility is located at 671 S. Lewis Street, Waukegan.

The 20,000 square-foot, $2.5 million, two-story building will house more than 120 employees who will continue the commitment Catholic Charities made to Lake County back in 1945 when it opened its first two-person office. That first year, the agency served 22 people. Fifty two years later, that number has grown to more than 30,000 clients annually.

Father Michael Boland, administrator for the archdiocese, duly noted: "It is with a double sense of thankfulness that we dedicate this facility. First, it will allow us to better serve our clients in the pleasant surroundings of a well-planned building. And second, it epitomizes the charitable spirit of the late Cardinal Bernardin..."

Election reform

State Rep. Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville) received the 1997 "Kit Pfau Voters Rights Award" for her efforts in passing the Absentee Ballot Fraud legislation, which prohibits candidates from assisting voters in casting their absentee ballots.

Moore is no stranger to election reform. She also sponsored bills to eliminate straight-party voting and consolidate non-partisan elections.

Poor Tiger Woods, he can't wear shorts

What's the difference between Tiger Woods today and Tiger Woods a year ago?

Well, he's $100 million richer, but there's a downside: He no longer is permitted the pleasure of playing golf in shorts. Now that he is a member of the Professional Golfers Association (PGA), Tiger must conform to that lofty lodge's dress code.

Never mind that most folks happily pack away their trousers during summer months.

Out of curiosity, at a golf course near Antioch, I counted 112 men and women wearing shorts and only 18 cloaking their gams in gabardine.

The next day, on another area links, there were 117 players in shorts and only 16 in long pants.

Knee-length Bermuda shorts are allowed in amateur and college events and also on the women's professional tour. The men pros are more than happy to sell golf shorts in their shops, but they don't want us shorts-people playing alongside them.

I recently received an entry blank for a PGA tournament, open to amateurs as well as pros. Under "Dress Code" it cautioned: "Proper golf attire MUST be worn. Contestants may not wear jeans, tank tops or collarless shirts. Shorts will not be permitted, nor will headwear worn in a non-traditional manner."

In other words, no baseball-type caps worn backwards.

I love it. I guess I agree with the traditionalists on everything except the banning of knee-length Bermudas. On the other hand, do we really want to look at the lily-white legs of Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus?

As golf's popularity has soared, galleries sometimes have become a bit rowdy. On public courses the ambience is altered when fugitives from ballparks bring along their hooting and hollering behavior.

On practice fairways, flocks of kids—the "Tigermania" gang—are getting golf lessons. It's a gentleman's game in which cheating or even fudging a little is frowned upon, so this is good for them—provided they also are taught golf-course etiquette.

But where shall we put all these fledgling floggers? Courses already are packed, especially on weekends. New places to play, such as Steeple Chase in Mundelein and Bittersweet in Gurnee, can't be built fast enough.

A round of golf, to be pleasant, should be played in four hours or less. On weekends, and sometimes weekdays, it can take an aggravating five to six hours because so many dreadful duffers and hapless hackers are gridlocking the frustrated players behind them.

In some foreign countries, players must take a proficiency test before they are allowed on a full-length layout.

Often called a rich man's game, golf is becoming increasingly expensive. Those up-and-coming young players had better get good jobs. Here's what it typically costs to play some of the most desirable public courses: Kemper Lakes in Long Grove, $110; Pine Meadow in Mundelein, $77.

A decade ago, one could buy a top-shelf set of 14 clubs for about $700. Today, the most popular and helpful sets of clubs can cost more than $2,000.

There obviously are plenty of players with plenty of money to spend on this wacky but wonderful game.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Managing time—is it really possible?

What would you do if I promised you a one-week vacation if you could get three weeks' work done in two weeks. Could you do it? How would you do it?

Think about the concept. Most of us accomplish a fairly set amount of work each week. Of course, some weeks are more productive than others, and some people can do more as well.

Would it matter if everyone had the incentive of a vacation for the time you could save? Would that concept change American business? Would U.S. productivity increase? Could we really manage our time more effectively and efficiently?

Controlling events

Frankly, I'm not certain we can manage time. I do believe we can control some of the events that consume time. Here are some tips for getting more accomplished.

- First, determine exactly what is to be done. Use a "to do" list with dates and times. Focus on the desired outcome, not the activity. Your goal is results. Remember, though you have all the time there is, you'll never have time for everything.

- Next, plan and prioritize your events. You must focus your efforts on the most critical and important tasks. Tackle the toughest projects first. Put all of your energy into them. You'll often find these tasks don't take as much time as you first thought.

Don't put them off. Procrastination is a vicious enemy. It leads to stress and pain. When we delay action, we become anxious. We lose our focus and often lose sleep as well. There is only one cure for procrastination: a strong dose of "do it now."

Give yourself incentive. We work for only two reasons: to gain a reward, or to avoid a penalty. I get more accomplished when I promise myself a reward. For example, when I'm writing columns, I promise myself a motorcycle ride if I finish writing by 4 p.m.

If I don't finish, I don't ride. However, with the incentive, I often get my work done and enjoy a relaxing ride. Often, I come back so refreshed I tackle another project.

- Eliminate distractions and time wasters. Telephones, pagers, drop-in visitors, meetings and other interruptions can ruin the best laid plans. Schedule uninterrupted time for critical tasks.

Keep visits and phone calls short. You can usually end a phone call by telling the caller you know he or she is busy and you need to get back to work yourself. Make sure all meetings have a pre-set agenda and stick to it. Don't let others control your events.

- Stay focused on one project at a time. It is so easy to become distracted. When I'm doing paperwork I clear my desk so I won't see other work that needs my attention. If I'm doing quarterly tax returns, that will be the only file on my desk. When I finish, I put it away and select the next project from my prioritized list.

Round Lake ready for largest development

Ground was broken for Valley Lakes, an 858-acre master planned residential community in Round Lake. Developed by Penguin Group, L.P. land developers, the community will be one of the largest residential communities in Lake County.

Valley Lakes will feature 1,828 single-family, townhome, and apartment homes, with 26 acres of perimeter commercial shopping. Single-family home prices are expected to range from $145,000 to $250,000. Prices for townhomes will range from $125,000 to $140,000.

"From the very beginning, our goal has been to build a 'hometown' a quality residential community where you could raise kids and enjoy life," said Stephen Fennell, vice president of development for Penguin Group. "Everything from park amenities and streetlights to the quality and style of the housing and landscaping supports that objective."

Twenty-one residential neighborhoods will be built by select homebuilders, offering various products and prices. Established architectural and building guidelines will be observed by each homebuilder to ensure continuity and quality throughout the community.

Penguin Group will develop community amenities and infrastructure improvements; approve all home designs; and oversee community development.

"We will remain intimately involved in the development until the last resident moves in," Fennell said. "We feel this is essential to ensure a premium cohesive family community."

With 53 percent of the community devoted to open space, Valley Lakes will also be a model of how a natural habitat can be successfully integrated into a residential community. Nearly 280 acres of on-site wetlands will be preserved to protect a variety of water plants and animals. A rare heron rookery will remain untouched in the central part of the development, buffered by the area's natural woods and lakes.

Detention lakes and ponds will add a new population of local fish to the area.

Four public parks, incorporating over 31 acres, are centrally located at each neighborhood and will be constructed with each phase of home-building. Planned park amenities include playground equipment; gazebos; pedestrian and bike trails; picnic and pavilion areas; ball fields; arbor and garden areas; and acres of open greenspace.

The apartment neighborhood will have a clubhouse, pool, and recreational center.

Valley Lakes is located 40 miles from Chicago's loop in central Lake County between Routes 120 and 134, near Fairfield and Wilson Roads in the Village of Round Lake.

With two nearby Metra stations and the proposed Rte. 53 extension, Valley Lakes is linked to both downtown Chicago and suburban shopping and business districts.

Local shopping and recreational opportunities are also available with the downtown village shops and nearby Grant and Lakewood Forest Preserves.

Home preconstruction sales will begin in the fall. Four more information about Valley Lakes, call 740-0800.

Metra adds six weekday trains

A revised timetable for Metra's Milwaukee District North Line to Fox Lake took effect July 20, with six additional trains on weekdays, plus new and adjusted weekend service including significant Sunday improvements.

Filling gaps in the Milwaukee North schedule, the new lineup will give many riders more flexibility and faster service during the week and more choices on the weekend.

New weekday inbound service includes:

- A 7:35 a.m. departure from Fox Lake, making all stops except Ingleside, Lake Cook Road, Edgebrook Forest Glen, Grayland and Healy, and arriving at Chicago Union Station at 8:51 a.m.

- A 5:18 p.m. departure from Deerfield, making all stops, arriving downtown at 6:05 p.m., and providing an attractive reverse-commute service for Lake-Cook area workers.

- An 8:09 p.m. departure from Grayslake, making all stops, arriving downtown at 9:19 p.m.

New weekday outbound service includes:

- A 4:39 p.m. departure from Union Station, a "Lake County Express," running non-stop between Western Avenue and Deerfield, arriving Fox Lake at 5:53 p.m.

- A 6:20 p.m. departure from Union Station, running express between Western Avenue and Glenview, arriving Grayslake at 7:24 p.m.

- A 9:35 p.m. departure from Union Station, making all stops, arriving Fox Lake at 10:59 p.m., and creating hourly service through 10:35 p.m.

New weekend inbound service includes:

- A 6:46 p.m. Saturday departure from Lake Forest, making all stops, arriving downtown at 7:39 p.m.

- A 5:40 a.m. Sunday departure from Fox Lake, making all stops, arriving downtown at 7:04 a.m.

- A 12:40 p.m. Sunday departure from Fox Lake, making all stops, arriving downtown at 2:04 p.m.

New weekend outbound service includes:

- A 5:35 p.m. Saturday departure from Union Station, making all stops, arriving Lake Forest at 6:27 p.m.

- A 2:35 p.m. Sunday departure from downtown, making all stops, arriving Fox Lake at 3:59 p.m.

- A 10:35 p.m. Sunday departure from downtown, making all stops, arriving Fox Lake at 11:59 p.m. This, along with the new 2:35 p.m. departure and adjustments to previous runs, will create an even spacing of departures all day Sunday.

With the new schedule, weekday service on the 49.5 mile Milwaukee North Line will be at its highest level ever—58 trains. And Metra's systemwide weekday roster will total 703. Milwaukee North posted the biggest gain in 1996 ridership of Metra's 11 lines, 6.4 percent. Contributing to that growth was the January 1996 opening of the Lake Cook Road station between Northbrook and Deerfield, with shuttle bus service to nearby employment centers.

Express banking center offered in Dominick's

The First National Bank of Chicago will open its newest in-store branch in the Dominick's Finer Foods store at 6655 Grand Ave., Gurnee.

"The Gurnee branch will offer our customers the convenience of express banking. We expect it to become very important to this community," said Felicia Morgan, head of the new branch.

In celebration of the opening, First Chicago will make several special offers to area customers through Aug. 5. Those investing in either six- or 12-month certificates of deposit will receive a 1 percent bonus on the rate being paid if they also open a new checking account. Additionally, qualified applicants for installment loans, will receive up to 0.5 percent off the rate charged on the loan. For opening any checking account, customers will receive a complimentary order of corporate image checks.

The First Chicago branch is an express banking center, allowing customers to apply for loans, open checking and savings accounts, and make deposits and withdrawals by ATM. Customers at the in-store branch also have the opportunity to make appointments with mortgage bankers and investment representatives with First Chicago NBD Investment Service, Inc.

"We are constantly looking for ways to enhance our customer relationships by improving the level of service that we offer. One of these ways is by offering customers the ability to bank where they shop," Morgan said.

CLC to host open house on food service program

An open house and information session on the food service management (FSM) and culinary arts program will be held at the College of Lake County Aug. 18. The session will be held from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in the Willow Room (C001) on the Grayslake campus.

Clifford Wener, FSM coordinator, will review the CLC's food service program, which provides technical TCI, the nation's leading cable television provider, is now serving northeast suburban cable customers who were previously served by Post-Newsweek Cable.

"We are pleased to welcome our new customers and employees into the TCI family," said Steve Bryan, TCI Great Lakes Division vice president. "We are looking forward to continuing their fine tradition of providing the best in service and programming."

According to terms of the deal, TCI has acquired Post-Newsweek Cable holdings that serve approximately 22,000 customers in the geo-

Specifically, the merger involves cable service provided in Highwood, Highland Park, Deerfield, Fort Sheridan, Glencoe, Winnetka, Northbrook, Lincolnshire, Kenilworth, Bannockburn, Riverwoods and the unincorporated areas of Deerfield, and Lake County.

"We plan to continue begin an integral and positive part of each of these communities," Bryan said. "Our goals are to serve our communities with great cable service that is fairly priced, a real commitment to the community, and with new products and services."

TIME: Procrastination is a vicious enemy

• Some tasks are best left undone. I believe in keeping promises, but sometimes we shouldn't promise. Learn to say no. I could speak 200 days per year if I accepted all offers. For my personal, mental and physical well being I have to say no.

You must determine what tasks are essential to your business or job. Eliminate the non-essentials. You will have more time to accomplish your important projects.

Tomorrow, you'll get another 24 hours to use. Use them carefully. Plan, prioritize, stay focused and use the time you save to do something you really enjoy. It works for me.

Lakeland Charity Golf Outing a success

By BRENDAN O'NEILL
Sports Editor

The day was Monday, July 21. The event: the Lakeland Newspapers Charity Golf Outing. The conditions? Soggy. But that did not detract any of the participants in this first-ever golf outing sponsored by Lakeland Newspapers.

Yes, the rains came, but conditions on the Renwood Golf Course were fair after the skies closed up at eleven o'clock. Many local golfers came out for a good time on the golf course, and to support a fledgling charity—the Illinois Center for Youth Advocacy (ICYA). The event raised $8,000 for the charity, founded by Jeff Shook, and will go toward a computer center for local children.

Dave Sherman, chief organizer of the golf outing, said that the event went better than he could have dreamed.

"This turned out to be a fantastic day," said Sherman. "Once the rain stopped falling, everyone seemed to have a great time."

Once the golfers returned from the links, they were treated to a raffle and many at-hole prizes were given out as well.

Winning the longest putt contest on the first hole were Harlan Dam and Andrea Moore. Kevin Jara of Acu-vision won the "betting" hole, and won double the amount he bet on number four. Bruce Bowen won the longest putt on the fifth hole, while Arnie Wasserman won the straightest drive on hole six. Hole seven saw Travis Carlisle win the longest putt with a hockey stick. Jim Shook and Laura H. won the longest drive at hole 16, while Gunta Hadac and Bruce Schwartz won the longest drive on the 18th hole.

Sherman said that the prizes were donated from various local businesses, and were greatly appreciated.

"We received prizes donated from the Chicago Bulls, the Chicago White Sox, the Chicago Wolves, the Kane County Cougars, and a number of businesses right here in the area," said Sherman. "A lot of the participants walked away with some pretty nice gifts."

Those gifts and prizes included a pair of $450 drivers, donated by Golf Links in Vernon Hills, and The Clubhouse in Gurnee.

With the success of this golf outing, you can expect many more events from Lakeland in the future, and we would like to invite all of our readers to get involved in any of the local charities.

Thanks to all of those who helped us out in any way at the golf outing. All of the participants and sponsors' assistance was greatly appreciated.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search,

I am writing because I am sick of working crummy jobs? I was employed with a great company for over 4 years and burned my bridges with them when I left last April to follow a girlfriend who was moving out of state for employment. Needless to say...that was short lived and I returned to find that I was no longer welcome in my former position or company for that matter. Since that time I have gone through 3 jobs and I'm sick of it! When I go for an interview, the first thing that seems to be asked of me is why I have been job hopping. I am not being hired for any good jobs, so I am forced to take anything to survive. What do you suggest for someone in this rut!

M.M. - Zion

Dear M.M.,

Leaving your job of 4 years plus on the "if-come", is now water under the bridge and basically you can't get that back, so move on! You say that your last 3 jobs were all crummy, however your biggest problem right now is overcoming the job hopping question during an interview. Find yourself something that you can tolerate for at least a year, hopefully longer. Get some sense of stability in your work history again, and perhaps the question of your job hopping will not be brought up to you. Therefore making it possible for you to not have to make excuses. Good Luck!

Dear Search,

As an owner of a new start up business, I am in need of going on to a computerized system instead of working everything manually. My problem is, that I need to find a way to train my employees and myself without the major expense of time off. How do you suggest going about this and is there such a thing as an economical way to do so? Thanks! L.G. - Lake Bluff

Dear L.G.,

The type of equipment and software you have purchased, will dictate to you the expense involved in training. The good news is there are plenty of computer consultants who will come on-site to your location for group or one-on-one training. Prices vary tremendously so beware. Also, the other alternative is to contact your local college for a list of computer classes. Sometimes these classes may be spread over several weeks which may or may not be suitable for you to teach the staff. But there are those we have found that are mini courses over a weekend or over a few evenings. Feel free to contact me and I'll be happy to provide you with further info.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.

Letters can be sent to Nancy Sakol c/o Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, IL 60030

Beauty, Brains &
Blue Eyes!

KAIYA

"KAIYA" is an incredibly beautiful female husky mix. Just four years old, Kaiya has a semi-long, shaggy, black/cream/silver coat that's luxuriously soft and dense to the touch. Perk ears, a fringe tail, and ice blue eyes complete this beautiful picture. But Kaiya's beauty goes far beyond appearance. This sturdy built mid-size dog has a calm and very sweet personality. She is alert and very attentive, and intelligence just shines out of those incredible blue eyes. Kaiya will respond well to training and her affectionate nature and love of people will make her an outstanding addition to your family. It's truly hard to understand how such a terrific dog has been at the shelter since July of 1996. If you like husky type dogs, you'll love our Kaiya. Come and see her in Cage 64, and give her the home and the family she deserves.

ALL DOGS BENEFIT FROM BASIC HOUSEBREAKING & OBEDIENCE TRAINING WHICH HELPS BOND DOG TO OWNER. CRATING IS RECOMMENDED WHEN THE OWNER IS AWAY FOR THE FIRST YEAR IF NEEDED.

DONALD 1

Landmark Designs
INC.

DONALD 1

Parents can cook dinner and still keep an eye on kids playing in the front yard in the Donald 1. Multi-paned windows wrap around three sides of the unique half-octagon kitchen bay, offering a panoramic view of the neighborhood.

On the exterior, the kitchen's octagonal protrusion creates one of several interesting roof line variations which gives the home a Tudor look. Truncated gables and rough-sawn board trim on the stucco exterior add to the Tudor styling.

The kitchen is large with plenty of counter space, and it's just inside the front door, handy for popping in to grab a snack. An eating bar provides separation between the kitchen area and the dining room, but the core of the plan is open, front to back. Less formal families might prefer combining the dining and living rooms into one big family room.

The home has a large master bedroom with a double vanity in the dressing room between the bathroom and walk-in closet.

Two additional bedrooms share a linen closet and a full bath which is located across the hall. An opportunity space in the walk-through utility room can be used for sewing, hobbies, exercise machines or extra storage. There is also room for storage in the large two-car garage.

For a study kit of the DONALD 1 (403-34LP60) or a Dream Home Book, send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Rd., E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424 (Specify plan name & number for kit). For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark Designs, or call 1-800-562-1151.
